£232m project would also improve existing homes

D-DAY FOR NEW COUNCIL HOMES

Report by Jamie Brassington

IT is decision day for a plan to build more than 300 council homes in Dudley over the next five years, at a cost of more than £30 million.

The proposals go before Dudley Council's cabinet at a meeting today (Thursday).

The local authority has outlined ambitious plans to build new and improve existing council housing in the borough in a scheme with a total cost of £232m.

A Dudley Council spokesman said: "Our five-year programme going forward from April 2018 involves a proposed spend of over £30m, which aims to deliver in excess of 300 new homes."

The council is also proposing to spend £72m on the maintenance of existing council housing, including kitchen and bathroom replacements and work on roofs, doors and windows.

More than £22m has been identified to address fuel poverty, including improving central heating and providing more affordable heating in 3,250 homes, also reducing carbon emissions.

Nearly £31m would be spent on work to support independent living, including home adaptations for tenants with disabilities, plus and improvements to sheltered and supported homes.

Investment

And more than £13m will be invested in community and estate regeneration.

Councillor Laura Taylor, cabinet member for housing, said: "We are committed to doing all we can to improve the standard of living for our tenants, and this huge investment over the next five years reflects that. The future is bright for Dudley."

"We want to make it as easy as possible for people to live and work here by offering good quality, fit for purpose, modern council homes."

Money spent on council homes is ring-fenced, and it is mainly sourced from rental income from tenants and receipts from right-to-buy sales.

The council says the programme of works has no impact on the level of council tax.

Dudley Council's plan to invest in homes comes as council bosses are set to make major decisions in the coming months over services and finances in the borough.

NED'S ATOMIC TIPPLE IS THE WONDER STUFF

Jonny Penny, of Ned's Atomic Dustbin, and Miles Hunt, of The Wonder Stuff, launch the new beer named in their honour

ROCKERS Ned's Atomic Dustbin and The Wonder Stuff's Miles Hunt shared a pint back on home turf when they launched a new ale in their honour.

Ned's Wonder – a limited edition 4.1 per cent ale from Birmingham-based Froth Blowers Brewing Co – has been created to mark the forthcoming Love From Stourbridge tour, which will feature sets from both bands.

Miles joined Ned's members Jonny Penny and Rat to perform a few acoustic numbers at The Duke William pub in Coventry Street, Stourbridge, in front of a select crowd before raising a glass as the first pint of Ned's Wonder was pulled.

Pub manager Jason Taylor, aged 39, said: "It was very successful – there were about 80 people upstairs."

"Everything went well and the three barrels we had all went."

"It is a malty beer and it is a more traditional style ale – we are sort of spoilt now with the choices of ales we have but this is a good base beer."

"I can't see why we would not have it on while they were touring."

"Hopefully it will crop up in a lot more local boozers – it is more choice for the community. They all enjoyed it and I think it will do well on the tour."

CRIME

Public warned over bogus water workers

POLICE have issued a warning following a spate of distraction burglaries carried out by crooks posing as water company workers.

Elderly people in Dudley, Tipton and Oldbury have been targeted by fraudsters claiming to be from water companies, who trick their way into homes and then search for money and valuables.

Severn Trent Water is also investigating, after reminding the public that their staff will always be in uniform. A police spokesman said: "These types of burglaries target vulnerable and elderly people."

HIPPODROME

Protest outside council house

A PROTEST will be held outside of Dudley Council house today (Thursday) ahead of a meeting that could decide the fate of Dudley Hippodrome.

Dudley Council's cabinet is due to decide this evening if campaigners given the keys to the Castle Hill landmark have met the aims laid out at the start of the project to save the venue. The protest is from 5.15pm.

Father wants action on killer drivers

Georgie Evans

THE father of a teenager killed by a speeding driver has backed a campaign for tougher sentences started by The Chronicle's sister newspaper the Express & Star.

The Stop the Speeders petition was launched week after reporting on two men jailed for less than eight years for each causing the death of a man by dangerous driving.

By the start of this week the petition had more than 1,100 signatures. It calls for judges to give longer sentences for killer drivers and will be sent to Prime Minister Theresa May.

The latest person to back it is Richard Evans, whose daughter Georgie Evans, a former pupil of Kinver High School, died when her car was hit by an Audi A6 driven by Kuba Ole, who was speeding on Priory Road in Dudley. Wolverhampton Crown Court heard the 24-year-old, of Beaconview Road, West Bromwich, fled the scene.

He was later jailed for six years, after pleading guilty to causing death by dangerous driving. Mr Evans said: "We lost our daughter on 27th October 2016 due to driver speeding at nearly 100mph in a 30mph zone. He struck her car with such force it tore it in half. She hadn't a prayer.

"The driver then made off from the scene and handed himself in 18 hours later. He was sentenced to six years imprisonment and probably will be out in four. We are paying the ultimate sentence. Enough is enough."

Ole later tried to blame the victim, claiming she had been inexperienced and travelling too slowly. Those allegations were dismissed by the police.

Council tax is set to rise by 4.5 per cent

DUDLEY Council is set to raise council tax by 4.5 per cent from April.

The authority is planning to increase council tax by 2.99 per cent, and charge households a further 1.5 per cent to fund adult social care.

Councillor Steve Clark, cabinet member for finance, said: "No council wants to increase council tax, but this small increase is the right thing to do for our residents."

Most households, in band B properties, will pay an extra 82p per week if the plans are approved. Households in band D properties will pay an extra £1.05.

Nearly 1,500 took part in consultation, called the Big Question, which ended last month. Council bosses will discuss the results at cabinet today (Thursday).

Last year the Government agreed to a deal allowing councils to increase council tax by 2.99 per cent and also approved a new social care precept - an extra rise in council tax - to generate money specifically for adult social care for older and more vulnerable people.

Savings

Councils were allowed to increase council tax under the precept between one and three per cent, with Dudley Council opting for a 1.5 per cent increase. This would make it the second lowest council tax rate in the country of metropolitan boroughs. It comes at a time when local authorities face a fall in funding from central government.

Dudley Council has put forward savings of £4m for the next financial year starting from April.

Council bosses will also consider increasing the social care precept by a further 1.5 per cent from April 2019, under proposed government rules. Councillor Clark continued: "We've already made significant savings, including £4m additional savings in 2018/19, but we still need to invest in our services."

A decision will be made at a full council meeting on February 19.

Fans in tribute to disaster victims

Fans at Old Trafford paid tribute to the victims of the Munich air disaster including Dudley's Duncan Edwards

"MANCHESTER, Munich, and Dudley will forever be united."

That was the moving final tribute in a special book of remembrance for Dudley-born football hero Duncan Edwards.

Rose Cook-Monk has handed the book over in the German city to mark the 60th anniversary of the Munich air crash, which claimed the life of England player Duncan and seven of his Manchester United team-mates, as well as several club officials, fans, journalists and air crew.

On the last page of the book she wrote: "On behalf of the Duncan Edwards Foundation, our Mayor Councillor Dave Tyler and the people of Dudley, I am proud to hand over the book of remembrance dedicated to Duncan. We are immensely proud of Duncan, his achievements and the wonderful person he was. Manchester, Munich and Dudley will forever be united."

Around a thousand Manchester United fans visited the German city as part of a commemoration, while supporters also paid tribute at Old Trafford on Saturday and on Tuesday to the 'Busby Babes' team.

Flexible and simplified new disability services due

DISABILITY services in Dudley are set to be transformed as part of a shake-up of special education and social care services.

Dudley Council's cabinet were being asked to rubber-stamp plans for the new look service at a meeting yesterday (Wednesday).

Chiefs said the proposals 'will improve co-ordination of care for people with disabilities from childhood through to adulthood'. The new service puts 'greater emphasis on helping people gain skills and knowledge, and have confidence and a social life', bosses added.

Councillor Nicolas Barlow, cabinet member for adult social care, said: "This is a major transformation of services which will help people live a full and independent life."

"We have talked to services users and carers in recent months who have told us we need to do more to simplify processes, improve our response times and offer greater flexibility in the way we do things."

"We know all of these things combined with the fact that people should at the very least have a consistent and quality experience regardless of age, the introduction of the whole life disability service is a key move to transform the way we do things and ultimately improve a person's quality of life."

Original shop to go after 130 years

A FAMILY-run jewellery business will close one of its shops after more than 130 years trading on a Black Country high street.

TH Bakers, which opened in 1888, has announced it will be closing its store in Brierley Hill High Street, which was its first shop. The company, which owns 30 stores around the country, will still operate other Black Country branches.

Paul Griffiths, a spokesman for the company, said: "The reason for the store's closure is due to long term declining trade on the high street to a point that, after trading on the high street for 130 years, keeping the store open is no longer feasible. However we are still trading in all of our other store areas, including Merry Hill, Stourbridge and Halesowen."

Blues at the library

Call for a one-way system to serve shops

A COUNCILLOR has called for new road safety measures at the entrance to a shopping centre in Sedgley.

UKIP's Councillor Bill Etheridge, who is also a Euro MP, said the road accessing the shopping precinct on the A463 Hurst Road, Sedgley, should be made one-way before someone gets hurt.

The Sedgley councillor said the vast majority of motorists enter the side road via the entrance next to the Tesco Express, but when vehicles enter via the bottom entrance 'temperers can get frayed' as the road is too narrow to allow cars to pass each other.

Unsuspecting pedestrians are also less likely to check behind them as vehicles approach against the main traffic flow, he warned.

Mr Etheridge said: "This location is crying out for a little organisation. For the relatively low cost of a couple of 'No Entry' signs, safety and sanity can be brought to this location."

"I am writing to Wolverhampton Council to ask them to act on this before someone gets hurt one way or another."

Shopkeeper Bobby Singhkler, said: "The car park is a mess, with some people leaving their cars there for days. It should be a one-way system, as people argue about whose right of way it is all the time."

Straits not right for site, says MP

A PROPOSAL to build a temporary travellers site in Gornal has been strongly opposed by residents, says an MP.

Dudley Council is suggesting a transit site in the Straits but 93 per cent of residents surveyed by Dudley North MP Ian Austin opposed the move.

The Straits site, in a residential area, is one of 10 sites which Dudley Council is looking at to establish a camp.

Having such a site in the borough will make it easier for the police and council to move on travellers from illegal camps.

The Labour MP said: "It's a good idea to make it easier to move travellers off parks and public open spaces – and I stood up in Parliament to demand councils and the police are given more powers and resources to tackle illegal camps – but I do not think that heavily residential areas, such as the sites in my constituency at the Straits or Blowers Green, are suitable."

"Residents on the Straits are overwhelmingly against this proposal and I want the council to take into consideration how they feel."

£100m support for firms hit by Carillion crisis

CONTRACTORS hit by the collapse of Wolverhampton-based construction and support services giant Carillion will be able to apply for Government-backed loans as part of a £100 million support package.

Business Secretary Greg Clark said the British Business Bank will support high street lenders to give loans to small and medium-sized businesses and individuals owed money by Carillion.

Three high street banks have agreed to provide support worth almost £250m.

Mr Clark said: "We want to signanal very clearly to small and medium-sized businesses who were owed money by Carillion that they will be supported to continue trading. The banks have responded to my request by agreeing to support businesses and individuals affected."

Chain

Mr Clark's department said the latest round of support will be of benefit to small businesses including the chain of subcontractors to Carillion. The Government has set up a task force involving business and unions to support firms and workers affected by the collapse of Carillion. Its liquidation left in its wake a £900m debt pile, a £590m pension deficit and hundreds of millions of pounds in unfinished public contracts. It comes after more than 2,600 construction companies became insolvent in the last financial year, with more facing problems because of the collapse of Carillion, according to a new report.

Over the past week it has been announced that 820 staff would be made redundant with 919 other Carillion jobs saved as others took on their contracts.

Dudley people affected by the collapse have been urged to call in at drop-in sessions at neighbourhood centres for advice. Staff will be on hand at Castle & Priory Neighbourhood Learning Centre in Limes Road, Dudley, from 9am to noon every Monday; at Brierley Hill Neighbourhood Learning Centre in Hill Street, Brierley Hill, from 1pm to 4pm every Wednesday; at Dudley Wood Neighbourhood Centre in Dudley Wood Road, Fridays from 9am to noon.

Convicted killer tried to murder his sister-in-law

A CONVICTED Romanian killer who tried to murder again after being allowed into this country is facing up to 20 years behind bars.

Gheorghe Mihai launched a savage knife attack on his sister-in-law in Lye High Street, just months after arriving in the UK, Wolverhampton Crown court heard.

Fellow Romanian Gaman Bobi told Wolverhampton Crown Court that Mihai was drunk when he repeatedly stabbed 23-year-old Roxana Mihai. Mr Bobi told the court: "He told me he was going to kill someone and go to jail for 10 years. I thought he was joking because he had drunk too much."

It took the jury less than two hours on Monday to convict Mihai of attempted murder.

He was warned by Judge Amjad Nawaz: "You are somebody with a predisposition to act in a violent way and a lengthy sentence awaits you."

Danger

The case was adjourned so that a report could be prepared on the level of danger he represents to the public.

The 38-year-old defendant – locked up for seven years after murdering a man in his home country in 2006 – attacked his sister-in-law in August 7 after she interrupted a conversation he was having with her husband, his stepbrother Nicursor Gheorghe.

Witness Kieran Langan said the defendant, who lived in Park Street, Lye, looked like 'a man possessed'. He continued: "He was in a rage. I could tell that she was scared. Then I saw him open his jacket and pull out a large kitchen knife."

Terrified Roxana ran away pursued by knife-wielding Mihai and he caught up with her on a car park behind High Street, stabbing her at least four times as she lay on the ground.

She suffered several knife wounds before her life was saved when her husband reached the scene and punched her attacker in the face.

The defendant had denied attempted murder and possession of an offensive weapon.

SHOPPERS at Sainsbury's have raised £10,000 for The Royal British Legion's Poppy Appeal.

The amount raised by customers at the Oldbury store in October and November helped raise the UK's 2017 total to more than £3 million.

Katy Bradshaw-Sole, store manager at Sainsbury's Oldbury, said: "Our community always get behind the Poppy Appeal and each year our customers and colleagues continue to dig deep for the charity."

"We are thrilled to have raised such a huge amount for the Royal British Legion and look forward to seeing what the future holds."

THERE has been a 30 per cent reduction in falls at Black Country hospitals. The Safety Plan, which was introduced at Sandwell and West Birmingham Hospitals NHS Trust in January last year, involves clinical staff completing 10 safety checks when assessing a patient.

Statistics show the number of falls resulting in an injury has decreased by 30 per cent a week as a result of the plan being implemented across the trust. Figures also show 99 per cent of patients are receiving all 10 checks within 24 hours following admission.

Chief Nurse Elaine Newell said: "This is all about our patients."

Inquest hears fourth suspect arrested

A FOURTH man has been arrested on suspicion of murdering shopkeeper Jaskaran Kang, who was stabbed to death in a flat above a shop in Dudley.

The 24-year-old father was found dead at the property above the Mini Mart on Stourbridge Road, Dudley, in the early hours of Saturday, January 6.

An inquest into the death of Mr

Kang, from Handsworth, was opened and adjourned on Friday at Black Country Coroner's Court, where it was revealed he was stabbed nine times and died from a stab wound to the leg.

Detective Inspector Justin Spanner, leading the investigation, told the hearing: "Police were called at 2.29am on January 6 to a flat, which was one of three flats above Dudley Wines (Mini Mart), to a male who had been stabbed. Upon arrival ambulances were already there. Jaskaran Kang was found there with nine stab wounds. An altercation occurred and he received stab wounds."

DI Spanner confirmed three people had been charged with murder and revealed that further suspects had been arrested including another man on suspicion of murder.

Coroner Zafar Siddique adjourned the inquest until the conclusion of the police investigation. Three people charged with murder have appeared in court, Reggie Salmon, 20 from Stourbridge Road, Dudley, a 17-year-old youth from Newcastle-under-Lyme, and Dontay Ellis, 18, of Central Drive, Lower Gornal. They are to appear at Wolverhampton Crown Court on March 16 to enter a plea.

Adrian calls for 'unity' after battle with cancer

By Luke Bartlett

AFTER being given just 12 months to live four years ago he defied all the odds. And now Adrian Webb, who is in remission, has helped launch a national cancer campaign.

Mr Webb, from Netherton, was diagnosed with skin cancer in September 2012 after a mole changed colour on his back. Despite undergoing surgery and radiotherapy, the cancer spread to his lungs, liver, spleen, bowel and spine. But after being given three brand-new drugs during treatment he survived.

Mr Webb, who was treated at Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Birmingham, said: "I thought it was all over but I'm a positive person so once I'd stopped blubbing I just wanted to get on with treatment."

"I was fortunate enough to be given three brand new drugs over the course of the following two years and, incredibly, I can now say I'm in remission."

Future

"I don't know what the future holds but for now that means I'm cancer free. I have no doubt that Dr Steven and the university hospital's skin cancer team saved my life."

The three drugs are called Dabrafenib, Trametinib and Pembrolizumab. Since his diagnosis, Mr Webb, who has a daughter Amelia, 22, and a son Josh, 25, has raised almost £16,000 for Cancer Research UK.

He joined forces with Dr Neil Steven to help Cancer Research UK raise funds in the run up to World Cancer Day, by urging people to wear the Cancer Research Unity Band.

The band with a reef-knot design aims to symbolise the strength of people coming together to unite against cancer.

Mr Webb added: "Thanks to research I'm still here today, enjoying my family and doing all the things that are so dear to me. That's why I want everyone to wear a Cancer Research UK Unity Band on World Cancer Day."

"It's a fantastic opportunity to raise money for Cancer Research UK's life-saving research. Just by wearing a unity band everyone can help make a real difference to people with cancer."

Dr Steven, deputy director of the Cancer Research UK Clinical Trials Unit at the University of Birmingham, said he hoped the campaign would receive backing to raise funds for life-saving research projects.

He said: "Adrian is living proof of how far research has come in recent years - but there is still so much more to do. Every day, around 85 people are diagnosed with cancer in the West Midlands so by wearing a Cancer Research UK Unity Band, people can show solidarity with those affected by the disease. As a cancer consultant, I know first-hand the impact the disease has on individuals and families. That's why I'm inviting everyone to be part of a movement that can help make a real difference to so many people's lives."

Though World Cancer Day took place on Sunday, the Unity Band is still available online, in pink, navy and blue at cancerresearchuk.org/support-us/donate/world-cancer-day or to make a donation visit www.cancerresearchuk.org/support-us/donate

Coach travel firm has gone into liquidation

A TRAVEL company that closed unexpectedly last month and left customers hundreds of pounds out of pocket has gone into liquidation.

Group Travel Limited, a coach firm based in Audnam, Stourbridge, announced it has appointed insolvency expert Paul Brindley.

A statement from the company, which also has a branch in Shrewsbury, said all customers owed money would receive a letter from the liquidator. It added: "If you have not received a letter from the liquidator by February 5, and you have paid for a trip or voucher you have not received, please call the liquidator. To all trade creditors, the letter from the liquidator should be with you by February 5. If you have not received it by February 8, give the liquidator a call."

Roy Dade, from Shrewsbury, had a trip cancelled in November and is still waiting for money to be refunded. The 58-year-old was supposed to travel to London with his wife to see Annie the musical but was told on November 4 it had been cancelled. Last month he was given £150 cash towards the £330 he was owed. He said: "Given that their customer base was largely seniors, there is something very immoral in the fact that they were still taking money from pensioners. I suspect they have been in trouble for much longer than it appears. It's a sad story really because we have booked a lot of trips with them over the years, but at least it looks like they're trying to do the right thing now."

Contact the liquidator on 0800 2315788.

MP Austin lands electric cars role

DUDLEY North MP Ian Austin has been appointed as vice chair on a parliamentary group working on policy for electric and automated vehicles.

The group brings together manufacturers, businesses, media, organisations and experts to share information, promote awareness, and debate about future low-carbon transport technologies.

The Labour MP – who recently visited Westfields, the Dudley-based car company that is developing new electric and driverless vehicle technologies – said he wants the Black Country to benefit from the jobs that these new technologies will generate.

Higgs & Sons has presented a cheque for more than £22,000 to the NSPCC, their 2017 charity of the year.

Literature festival has highest yet attendance

A RECORD number of people attended this year's Wolverhampton Literature Festival.

More than 6,200 people took part in almost 100 events across more than two dozen venues.

Events included children's storytelling, workshops, theatre and performance, literature, poetry reading, music and art talks.

The three-day festival, which ran from January 26 to 28, saw award-winning writer and journalist Will Self headline the celebrations.

A total of 98 events took place across 26 city venues during the event, which saw a major increase in attendance compared to the 2,000 who visited last year's inaugural festival.

Councillor John Reynolds, Wolverhampton council's cabinet member for city economy, hailed the 'tremendous' festival and said he is delighted it will be returning.

Councillor Reynolds said: "The feedback has been very positive and, thanks to Arts Council England funding, we can now look to build on this success in 2019 and for years to come."

The festival was made possible after the council teamed up with the University of Wolverhampton and the Express & Star. It was funded by an Arts Council England grant to Wolverhampton Libraries.

Canal watch plan for the waterways

STEPS are being taken to ensure historic canals across the West Midlands are kept safe and secure.

A neighbourhood watch scheme is being launched by the Canal and River Trust with West Midlands Police to ensure that the canals remain 'quiet, tranquil places' and to deter crime.

It is called Canal Watch and the increased number of people choosing to live and work by the water will be able to sign up to it to receive police updates and free crime prevention advice.

If successful it will be rolled out nationwide.

To sign up to receive information, create an online account at www.wmnow.co.uk website.

They can go along to Dudley Wood Methodist Church for choir meetings on Mondays from 7.30pm.

No Velo this year, new route in 2019

THE Birmingham Velo will not be held this year, organisers have announced, after the event divided opinion in the Black Country and Staffordshire last year.

The event will instead return in 2019, when it will be moved from autumn to spring and see cyclists tackle a different route.

The ride was held for the first time in September but attracted criticism from residents and business owners due to road closures in parts of the Black Country, Staffordshire, Worcestershire and Birmingham.

Saboteurs left nails and tacks on the route, including in Bobbington and Swindon, putting the safety of riders at risk.

Details of next year's route are yet to be revealed but will be announced in the coming months, event organisers said.

Around 15,000 riders took part in the 100-mile route last year, in what is believed to be the UK's second biggest closed-road cycling event ever. It raised £2 million for charity.

Participants rode from Birmingham city centre through Sandwell, Dudley, South Staffordshire and Worcestershire.

The 2019 event will take place earlier in the year when there is more daylight, the organisers say.

Jon Ridgeon, chairman of event organisers CSM Active, said: "It was clear to us that some changes would be necessary if the event was to reach its long-term potential. Together with our partners Birmingham City Council, we are determined to ensure that this wonderful event continues to develop and evolve.

"The move from September to the spring, along with the new route, will provide us with a fantastic, sustainable long-term platform from which to grow in years to come."

Councillor Ian Ward, leader of Birmingham City Council, said: "The 2017 event was a huge success for Birmingham. The benefits of major events are well known and our cycling strategy is clear – we want to get the Midlands cycling and we plan for Velo Birmingham to become a key legacy project as we build towards the 2022 Commonwealth Games."

Homes, shops and pub planned at brickworks

A FORMER brickworks site is set to welcome a major retail and leisure development alongside 200 homes – despite concerns from retail giants into Merry Hill and Morrison's.

The area in Stallings Lane, Kingswinford, that was formerly occupied by Istock would include an Aldi, Iceland and Majestic Wine alongside a gym and pub.

The 18-acre scheme will also include space for 365 cars.

However, following a public consultation, concerns were raised by retail bosses about the impact on existing shops.

A statement from intu Properties PLC says: "The application does not properly assess the impact of the proposals on the vitality and viability of the Brierley Hill Strategic Centre or local centres within the vicinity of the site."

A contribution of £30,000 to pay for consultants to undertake an assessment of potential improvements to highway junctions in the area has also been requested by council bosses.

The plans have been recommended for approval, subject to conditions, and were being considered by Dudley Council this week.

Plans were submitted by brick making giant Istock alongside fellow applicants Helical Retail and Hawkins.

Jobs

A council document published ahead of the meeting states: "This application would result in the redevelopment of a brownfield site which is allocated for housing and mixed use, positively contributing towards the regeneration of the borough, the delivery of much needed housing, council tax, new homes bonus and jobs."

A document submitted to the council on behalf of the applicant reads: "Tansey Green represents a significant opportunity to deliver a mixed-use development which responds to local retail, leisure and housing needs. The scheme unlocks major economic, social and environmental benefits."

The proposed development, if approved, would be constructed on the opposite side of Stallings Lane to Pensnett Trading Estate.

MP leads way for faster broadband

Stourbridge MP Margot James, with Kim Mears from Openreach and Cox & Plant MD Andy Cox and workers

THE vast majority of homes and businesses in the Black Country can now access 'superfast' broadband. Internet speeds have been boosted by a roll-out of the technology by the Government and Openreach.

The Government has achieved its target of ensuring 95 per cent of the country has access to the faster connection. The level is even higher in the Black Country, including up to 99 per cent in Halesowen and Rowley Regis.

Stourbridge MP Margot James, the Government's digital minister, visited storage firm Cox & Plant in the town, which has benefited from faster broadband. She said the task was to ensure everyone who has access to superfast broadband knows how to get it. She added: "All they have got to do is contact their provider."

Andy Cox, managing director at Cox & Plant, said superfast broadband had made a huge difference to the efficiency of his company as poor technology had been a real 'barrier to growth'.

IN MY VIEW

with Mark Andrews

It's just criminal to penalise for 31mph

IF a pollster stopped you in the street and asked about your priorities for crime and policing, what would you say?

Violent crime? Putting away more burglars? Getting tough on anti-social behaviour, vandalism, and graffiti?

Or maybe you would reply: "All of these things are important, but I understand that in these days of stretched resources you can't do everything. So what I would really like is to nick motorists for doing 31mph."

I suspect the latter represents something of a minority viewpoint. But last week, just days after recording a 13 per cent rise in overall crime, and a 16 per cent increase in violent crime, the chief constable of West Mercia Police decided the burning issue was petty speeding offences.

Actually I suspect he knows full well that is not the view of the public. But there seems to be a culture among the higher echelons of most of our public services these days that their role is not to implement the will of the people, but to "change our attitudes and perceptions."

If we think burglary or yobbish behaviour is more important than straying fractionally over the speed limit, then we are clearly in need of a bit of education. Worked a treat in the old Eastern bloc.

Indeed, Mr Bangham says he wants to create a climate where the public feels embarrassed rather than aggrieved when being hit with a speeding fine, and up to a point I agree. But I think this approach will do exactly the opposite.

Think about how different attitudes to speeding were 30 or so years ago. Learner drivers were told it was ok to do up to 35mph "to keep up with the traffic", and police usually allowed people a margin of 10mph before stopping them.

But the thing was back then, if you did get caught, it really did mark you down as a bit of an idiot. Everyone knew you were driving irresponsibly and deserved all you got.

If we start penalising every single driver who strays one mph over the limit – which is basically every single driver – that stigma is gone. It becomes nothing more than a lottery, putting the self-centred boy racer in the same bracket as the little old lady on her way to a whist drive.

Mr Bangham has now sought to "clarify" the recent comments, and assures us officers will not be targeting drivers for trivial speeding infringements after all. Good.

Because if everyone is liable to be done for speeding, where's the embarrassment in that?

Getting in a state over a visit from US President

Stephen Fry – how much of this anger is genuinely about Trump

Donald Trump – how many demonstrators would turn out anytime to bash America

Lord Adonis – sneering at entire city and dancing on grave of a stricken company?

Playing Trump card – or just snobbery?

STEPHEN Fry is leading the campaign for "the most incredible protest in history" when Donald Trump makes his state visit to Britain. But how much of this anger is genuinely about Trump and how much is simply the latest manifestation of the anti-Americanism which has been festering in British society ever since we lost the War of Independence 235 years ago? It is a sneering snobbery, based on the conviction that European nations are civilised, wise and cultured while America is vulgar, brash and far too powerful. At its heart it is all about old nations envying the success of a new nation. And I wonder how many of the "anti-Trump" demonstrators would turn out at any opportunity to bash America, no matter who was the president. One of our national treasures said in an interview 10 years ago: "When they mock America for its supposed lack of knowledge, irony or sophistication, they are revealing nothing but the pathetic inadequacy and inferiority complex of the British. I absolutely hate that sneering anti-Americanism." The national treasure? Stephen Fry, since you ask.

A READER asks why it is that the latest cooking fad, Himalayan salt crystals, have lain "undisturbed beneath the mountains for one hundred million years" but come with a "best before" date of December 2018.

ONE or two old softies took me to task for suggesting serial burglars should be taken into a field and shot. I wonder whether this week's report on the armed raider known as the Night Watcher who is targeting homes in southern England, terrifying householders and stealing their valuables changes any minds. Simple question: would the world be a better or a worse place if Chummie was no longer with us? Anyway, if he really is a soldier he'll understand the concept of the firing squad.

MY RECENT item on sneering at Americans reminds me of a pal who has recently had facial surgery and complains that, because of the stitches, he can no longer sneer with both sides of his mouth. My research suggests that he probably never could. Try it. Curl your lip into the sneeriest sneer you can manage and then try it with the other side of your mouth. It seems most people are one-sided sneerers. The explanation may be that, once you start sneering in childhood, you choose one side and the muscles on the other side "forget" how to curl. I dare say there are ambidextrous sneerers but I have yet to meet one.

I WROTE recently about how a friend and I had different memories of the same event, a trip to the North Pole. A reader is reminded of his amazement in discovering that he had been at the same 1980s David Bowie concert in Milton Keynes as a lifelong friend. It turned out they both remembered the heat, the expensive bottled water and the four-hour delay in leaving the car park. But both had forgotten a significant fact. My reader went home and related the amazing coincidence to his wife who replied with a mixture of bemusement and pity: "Yes, I drove us all down in the car."

DID you spot the symbol the stars wore at the Grammys to show their solidarity with the campaign against sexual harassment? It was a white rose which also happens to be the symbol of Britain's right-on capital of liberal, gender-neutral and progressive thinking. Yorkshire. Put that kettle on, luv.

YOU may be aware that Lord Adonis, unaccountable architect of the detested HS2 and unelected crusader to overturn Brexit, is not one of my favourite people. He reinforces that status with his infamous recent tweet: "Wolverhampton, political base of Enoch Powell in the 60s and a huge Leave majority, is HQ to just one large company, Carillion!" Strange man. He seems to be sneering at an entire city while simultaneously snarling at Brexiters and dancing on the grave of a stricken company. They ought to put him in a circus for crotchety old people. But then that's exactly where he is.

I AM coping with this new online spell-check but it does make some odd connections. Who, in the name of sanity, thinks when I type "someone's" I may have intended to type "Simeon's"?

YOU have to admire the brass neck of Thomas Cook in blatantly turning sunbeds from a holiday entitlement into a paid-for extra. We were presumably supposed to cheer the travel firm's introduction of guaranteed, pre-hired sunbeds at holiday resorts. 'The end of the battle for the sunbed' crowed one headline. But at £22 a time? It is outrageous. How long before they start charging you for a seat in the dining room?

AFTER the death of Ikea founder Ingvar Kamprad was announced, I received a flurry of emails from folk joking that he ought to be buried in a flat-pack coffin. Maybe I'm getting old but it struck me as in rather poor taste.

TALKING POINT

No honey, I'm just being nice – not sexist

"THAT'S £3.50 please sweetheart."

"Thanks love, have a good day."

That could be a scene from any retail outlet at any time of the day. Yet how far can we go with pleasantries?

I ask, because walking through the centre of Wolverhampton, I encountered a hand-written notice. "A word of kindness can make someone's day."

The sentiment I wholeheartedly agree with, but not everyone may take your compliments the right way.

One rail commuter took to Twitter to express her disgust over what she called rude and misogynistic behaviour by a rail company official who had the cheek to address her as 'honey.'

Feeling patronised, she condemned the alleged put-down as 'everyday sexism'.

The company's reply – instead of an explanation or apology, she was asked if she'd prefer to be called 'pet' or 'love' next time – was probably ill-advised, but this only serves to act as a warning to others who may be easily offended by terms of endearment.

The company did apologise for what it had intended to be a light-hearted response and, while I do believe the commuter had a genuine complaint to make about the level of service, I personally think she should get a grip.

In an age when we are told that chivalry is dead, I wonder whether the same woman would complain if a 'gentleman' let her on or off the train first or held the door open for her.

From my own point of view, I have no problem with anyone I am dealing with calling me 'sweetheart', for example, they are only being polite after all. I wouldn't express the same platitudes in return as affectionate terms are only reserved for my other half. But their words will be appreciated and I will always be civil – I think please and thank you should be key words in everyone's vocabulary.

However, and this brings me back to the sign in Wolverhampton, who's to say no-one would be offended if I did call someone 'darling' for instance?

As a bloke dishing out niceties to a woman there's always the possibility that your intentions could be misread. If I tell someone their hair looks good that day or their outfit suits them, I would expect most right-minded people to take that as it is, a compliment.

We all like to be told something good about ourselves and I think one ought to tell, during face-to-face interaction at least, whether someone is being sincere or sinister. It's sad that some people can't always see it that way.

Sensible cycling on A449 please!

I DROVE north up the A449 on Friday afternoon and signalled to turn right into Holbeche House.

I waited until there was a gap in the traffic from Himley traffic lights and started to turn right into the site. I caught sight of a cyclist riding on the pavement coming in the same direction as me, so I stopped to let him past.

I waited for another gap in the traffic then started to turn again. This time I got a bit further across the road when two more cyclists appeared out of my blind spot going in the same direction as the first one, but much faster.

I had to stop half way across the path of the traffic now coming towards me, who also had to stop or they would have crashed into me. If I had carried on I would have crashed into the cyclists.

Why were three middle aged men cycling on the pavement at that time of day (14:30)?

Did they not realise that they could have been faced with a vehicle coming out of Holbeche? Why were they not on the road? Why were they riding so fast?

They could have easily met a pedestrian on the pavement coming out of Holbeche round the corner where they met me. Lack of common sense and foresight.

Motorists cannot be aware of cyclists if they cannot see them even if they are wearing high viz jackets.

Disgrace – disgusted at state of town centre

I WONDER, does anyone from Dudley Council ever bother to walk along High Street, Dudley, from Union Street up to Top Church?

If they did, I would hope they would be as disgusted as I am with the state of the place.

The post box on the corner is an absolute disgrace. Surely Royal Mail could be approached and asked for a clean-up.

The next eyesore is the pile of stuff outside the old McDonald's restaurant.

The amount of various goods stretches for several feet and is an absolute disgrace.

I could go on, but for goodness sake, someone please take a look at the area I am referring to and arrange for a clean-up.

Make the bosses pay for Carillion failure

THE Government has a great chance to show that they are the rulers of the country – if they have the nerve.

Sack all of the senior managers and directors of Carillion, pay them up until the end of December 2017, freeze all bonus payments and pensions due, and ban them from working in the construction industry for life.

If they can, try to find a way to recoup some of the money that they have already been paid too.

Then pick and choose new directors and make sure that they work for us – the public.

We will lose our place at Euro table

WITH Brexit discussion proceeding at a pace the type of deal we are likely to get is more apparent.

The UK wants full access to the single market, for which we will have to pay a fee. We want to be part of the customs union, which might also incur a fee, in addition to which we must also be subject to the European courts of justice. We want close ties with financial institutions, technology and development, free movement of trade and personnel to suit our needs.

It seems to me that the best deal is so close to being full members of the EU that we might as well not bother leaving at all.

If we leave we will lose our voice in Europe, we will lose our rights to veto any policies we find are against our interests and we will no longer have access to EU funding or loans. Will we really be better off outside?

Guest's talk centres on travellers

Wollaston E TWG

THE well-attended January meeting was presided over by chairman Julie Willetts, who wished everyone a Happy New Year.

Unfortunately, the December meeting, to have incorporated the Christmas party, had to be cancelled. Hopefully a summer party will be held instead.

Apologies were read, followed by the minutes of the previous meeting, which were duly passed and signed. The treasurer gave a favourable report regarding the financial situation, but had a busy time returning monies as a result of the cancelled Christmas party.

The choir was thanked for participating in both the guild's own carol service and that of the Federation at St Thomas' Church, Stourbridge. Money collected at the guild carol service and the January meeting will be donated to the Birmingham Teenage Cancer Unit.

Speaker for the evening Sally Gurney gave an exact definition of the term 'travellers', augmented by details of the places they lived, problems arising and solutions to these problems. The interesting talk was followed by a question and answer session after which Mrs Gurney was thanked by the chairman and members.

Raffle prizes went to Joy Cooke, Gill McKenzie and Sue Llewellyn. Pat Archer won the competition. The next meeting is at 7.30pm on February 13 at St James' Church Hall, Wollaston.

Dressed for success as pantomime dame

Amblecote History Society

AT the January meeting, members and visitors watched with great anticipation as Richard Wescott transformed himself from a well-presented gentleman in a suit into a pantomime dame.

He explained the way he completed the different stages of facial make-up he used to give the colourful appearance of a dame.

Giving an interesting account of the years he spent playing this part, he completed his transformation with different sequined costumes, high heeled shoes, brightly coloured necklaces, earrings and large wigs. His talk was very interesting and entertaining with plenty of jokes and interaction with the audience who joined in wholeheartedly.

The next meeting is on February 14 at 7.30pm, in the Furnace Theatre at the Ruskin Glasshouse Arts Centre, Wollaston Road, Amblecote.

Stourbridge professional artist Geoff Tristram will give a humorous talk titled '40 years watching paint dry'.

Geoff tells his story from a scatterbrained ten-year-old with a colour biro, to the mature professional artist and occasional comedy writer that he is today. His presentation shows work for Penguin Books, Embassy World Snooker, the BBC and his famous Ravensburger Jigsaws. It will feature many amusing anecdotes.

Visitors are welcome for a £3 fee.

The society is pleased to announce it has a new website www.amblecote.org giving more information.

New venue and day as meetings start for 2018

Grange E Guild

GRANGE (E) Guild will hold its first meeting of 2018 in a new venue of St Peter's Centre, Pedmore Lane, Pedmore, Stourbridge on Tuesday, February 13.

Meeting dates have been changed from the first Tuesday to the second Tuesday in the month.

There is no speaker for February but guild member Jacqueline Hill will entertain members with a quiz which is always good fun. Small prizes will be awarded to the winners.

The sales table will consist of bottles and cans and there will be the usual monthly raffle.

If any ladies would like to come along as a guest to find out what Townswomen's Guild is all about, they are welcome to come along to the meeting next Tuesday at St Peter's Centre. They will receive a very warm welcome and maybe meet some new friends.

For further information call the secretary Jean Williams on 01384 832439.

Macabre and humorous tales

Sedgley Local History Society

THE next meeting of the society takes place tonight (Thursday), at 7.30pm in St Andrew's Church, Bilston Street.

Popular local historian and author Ian Bott will present an illustrated talk guaranteed to grip the imagination.

He will look at the Black Country's way of death through macabre and humorous stories - many associated with beautiful parish churches. There are inscriptions on headstones and memorials, tales of 'body snatchers' and many anecdotes. Visitors are invited - cost is £1.

Sea of scarves to honour hero Cyrille

THE Hawthorns rose for its hero as West Brom supporters honoured Cyrille Regis on Saturday.

A sea of scarves were held aloft as the icon's name was sung loud and proud to mark the passing of one of Albion's most-loved sons ahead of the Premier League match against Southampton.

Fans of both clubs were encouraged to bring scarves and were asked to 'Raise them for Cyrille' during a special video tribute a few minutes before kick-off.

Broadcaster and Albion fan Adrian Chiles hosted an hour-long pre-match show with a host of famous faces from across the football community on hand to pay their respects. A minute's applause also took place prior to kick-off inside a packed Hawthorns.

Video clips dedicated to Cyrille were screened and the pre-match playlist was dedicated to his memory.

Cyrille's nephew, and former Albion striker, Jason Roberts, said: "This club meant everything to my uncle, and we shouldn't mourn him, we should celebrate him. This club was in his heart, and every single one of you was in his heart. You are our family as well. Thank you."

Among those to also pay their respects was fellow well-known fan, comic Frank Skinner. He told the crowd: "They say he picked up the ball on the half-way line, in my memory he picked up the ball on Smethwick High Street."

Albion and footballing royalty were introduced to the pitch prior to kick-off.

Woman fined £165 for slapping her ex on back of his head

A WOMAN has been fined after she slapped her ex-partner on the back of his head.

Nichaela Elizabeth Cole, 26, formerly of Disserth View, Howey, in mid Wales, and now of Dudley, admitted assaulting Jonathan Green at Llandrindod Wells on September 21.

Prosecuting, Stephen Davies told Llandrindod Wells Magistrates Court that on September 21 there was an incident in Llandrindod Wells. Police were called and found Cole behaving aggressively.

Cole and Mr Green had previously been in a relationship. The court heard that she had been swearing at him and kept stepping in his way and getting close to his face.

As he walked on Ithon Road he felt a smack on the back of his head and saw Cole was immediately behind him. The slap was witnessed by a friend.

In interview, Cole said she could not remember hitting Mr Green but she was angry at the time.

Defending, Gareth Walters said it was the only conviction on her record since 2008 when she was a juvenile.

Mr Walters said Cole, who works in a shop, has now moved to Dudley and has not seen Mr Green since. She was fined £165, ordered to pay £30 surcharge and £85 costs.

Crime rise, but officer numbers to decrease

POLICE officer numbers will continue to fall in the West Midlands despite an increase in crime.

The West Midlands force is also set to increase its council tax precept.

The force currently has 6,535 officers and it aims to protect around 100 roles by increasing the policing precept – adding an extra £12 a year to Band D council tax bills for 2018/19.

But this will not be enough to avoid a fall in numbers, with around 6,400 expected to be in place this time next year due to short-fall in funding.

It comes as figures last month showed an increase in recorded crime for the West Midlands, up 14 per cent.

West Midlands Police and Crime Commissioner David Jamieson said: "These figures highlight the short-sighted approach of the Government by continuing to apply real-terms cuts to police forces' funding at a time when the pressures on policing are increasing."

"As the funding West Midlands Police receives from the Government is going down in real-terms, I have been left with no other option than to consider increasing the council tax precept for policing by £12 a year for a Band D property."

Protecting

Mr Jamieson said money raised from the precept would go 'directly on protecting officer numbers', and neighbourhood policing to reduce crime.

He added: "The West Midlands Police has lost £145 million from central Government since 2010. Despite being a highly efficient force, we have still lost 2,000 officers since 2010, meaning we are having to do more with fewer resources."

"Despite the challenges faced, we are determined to get on with the job of keeping the people of the West Midlands safe."

Commissioner Jamieson

Meanwhile, hundreds of suspected drink and drug drivers were caught during the Christmas period, as police cracked down hard on reckless motorists.

Officers from West Midlands Police and the Central Motorway Police Group arrested 251 drivers for being over the alcohol limit during December, and 40 for being under the influence of drugs.

The highest alcohol recording was 184 micrograms in 100 millilitres of breath, more than five times the legal limit.

West Midlands PCC David Jamieson said: "People driving under the influence of drink or drugs are a menace on our roads. They put their own and other people's lives at risk."

"I've seen first-hand the damage drink and drug driving can have, that is why I'm pleased that in the latest campaign nearly 300 reckless drivers were caught."

Bring Parliament to Midlands, says MP

A BLACK Country MP has called for Parliament to be brought to the West Midlands.

Dudley North MP Ian Austin has backed calls to move Parliament out of London – to ‘force the metropolitan elite’ to find out what life is like outside of the capital.

The Labour MP called for an example to be set by moving the MPs and Lords out of London.

Mr Austin said: “Parliament badly needs refurbishment and unlike other countries we’ve got government, Parliament, business, finance and the media all concentrated in London, so let’s set an example and move Parliament to the West Midlands in the middle of the country.”

“I think that would take pressure off London’s overheated economy and imagine how moving government to the regions could help bring new investment and new jobs to areas like the Midlands.

“Most important of all, it would force the metropolitan elite ruining the government and the civil service to listen to the rest of us and find out what life is like outside London.”

Mr Austin has previously moved a Parliamentary Bill proposing to move 100,000 civil services jobs from London to the regions.

Artist Corran adds colour to comedy

Artist and designer Corran Green from Kingswinford

ARTIST Corran Green has made a colourful splash on stage with her unique scenery designs.

The 19-year-old from Kingswinford was asked to produce the backdrops for the Fizzog comedy group’s production of The Wicked Wizard of Fizzog.

Her distinctive artwork provides a vivid addition to the successful show whichon tour around the Midlands.

Corran initially became involved with the Black Country production company through a drama workshop in Stourbridge but eventually chose art and design ahead of stage performances.

She said: “I took part in some of the Fizzog shows and my main claim to fame was when I appeared as the front end of a cow.

“It was such great fun working with them. Producing the scenery was a challenge but I tried to create something which reflected their off-beat way of presenting their show.

“Art is my main passion. With my best friend Ryan Suzuki, we are developing our own brand of T-shirts and prints and I am also working on other commissions.”

Mall’s new room for disabled shoppers

A NEW Changing Places room has been opened at the intu Merry Hill shopping centre. It means people with severe disabilities can now utilise the new assisted-access toilet and changing facilities installed at the Brierley Hill centre

The room is intended for shoppers with profound and multiple disabilities but will also cater for people with other physical and non-visual disabilities who require extra equipment and space in a safe and comfortable environment. It differs to intu Merry Hill’s standard and accessible toilets with features that include an adult-sized changing bench and features enough room to accommodate a disabled person and up to two carers. In addition there is also a height adjustable sink and a hoist to help users out of their wheelchairs.

Changing Places on the upper mall near Debenhams was officially opened by Neil Davies, chairman at Dudley Voices for Choice.

Shock figures for children carrying blades at school

SWORDS, axes and machetes are among the 260 weapons seized in schools by West Midlands Police.

Shocking figures show how many blades were picked up from schools over the past six years.

In Wolverhampton, 25 were taken by police, 20 in Walsall, 21 in Sandwell and 14 in Dudley. These include flick knives, machetes and daggers. The children caught with weapons include three 10-year-olds.

The data obtained by the Liberal Democrats shows the range of reported crimes from schools. They include malicious wounding and even an attempted murder.

Chief Constable Dave Thompson said he was concerned some young people were carrying knives as a form of protection. He said an education programme, involving schools and youth clubs, needed to be rolled out.

Liberal Democrats campaigner Rob Quarumby said: “No child should be walking down the corridor of a school with a blade in their pocket. These kids are robbing knives from mum’s kitchen drawer or a screwdriver from dad’s tool shed that could, potentially, take a life.”

Street hits the roads to back charity run

WEST Midlands Mayor Andy Street will be hitting the roads after signing up to a 10k charity run. Mr Street will take part in the Black Country Road Run in and around Halesowen on July 1.

He said: “I am very much looking forward to taking part in this event. Not only will it be a great event for runners but will also raise money for many good causes in the Black Country and beyond.”

Corin Crane, chief executive of the Black Country Chamber of Commerce, added: “It is great to see the Mayor stepping up and taking on this mission for charity. I would encourage local businesses to get involved in the new Corporate Challenge.”

14 Extra free parking is proposed

Dudley Chronicle Thursday, February 8, 2018

MOTORISTS are set to get two hours free parking in town centres across Dudley.

One hour free parking is currently available in all council-owned car parks, but council bosses want to increase that to two hours under new plans.

The move is set to be determined by council bosses at a cabinet meeting later this month.

Dudley Council leader Patrick Harley said: "This has been on our wish list for a long time as we recognise how important this is to people visiting our town centres."

Councillor Karen Shakespeare, cabinet member for environmental services, said: "People will be able to shop for free for longer which is good news for them and for our traders."

Family inspire comic's show

COMEDIAN David Bad-diel will bring his new one-man show to Dudley Town Hall on April 19.

The Olivier Award nominated My Family: Not the Sitcom arrives in Dudley following its sold out run in London. It is described as a show about memory, ageing, infidelity and dysfunctional relatives.

Tickets cost £25.50 from the box office on (01384) 812812 or at the borough halls.co.uk website.

FOCUS ON DUDLEY TOWN CENTRE

Curtain set to fall on hopes to revive the Hippodrome

THE CURTAIN is set to fall on the dream to revive Dudley Hippodrome as a theatre.

Dudley Council say the a group dedicated to restoring the venue has failed to demonstrate they can raise enough money to make the rescue of the Castle Hill landmark viable.

Officers say the Black Country Hippodrome group failed to meet its targets since being handed the keys just over 12 months ago and that the lease agreement would be torn up, subject to final agreement from councillors.

Members will be asked to formally end the agreement at a crunch meeting today (Thursday) in a move that would kill off the campaigners' takeover of the Hippodrome, which they hope to re-open as a theatre and community venue.

Campaigners were handed a five-year lease by the council but complained it was not long enough to attract necessary funding. Now the council seems to have lost confidence in the group's ability to deliver.

A report said the group have 'failed to submit a funding strategy that provides confidence that funding has been or is likely to be secured for the project'.

The council also said it believed 'legitimate funders would accept' a five-year lease on the understanding it would be extended if enough money was raised.

A failed bid for funding to the Black Country Local Enterprise Partnership appears to have been the final nail in the coffin.

Steve Daniels, from Black Country Hippodrome, was disappointed by the recommendation from officers. He said: "We have insured the building at considerable cost, we have had a security team visit the site twice daily, we have applied for funding from Heritage Lottery Fund. We have not stopped working on the project."

Meanwhile, Dudley College has show interest in regenerating the site.

Peaky night sells out in hours

TICKETS for a hugely popular Peaky Blinders night at the Black Country Living Museum were snapped up in just three hours.

The event will return to the Tipton Road museum, where much of the popular gangster TV drama is filmed, in September after going down a storm with the show's many fans.

Visitors will again dress in classic Peaky Blinders style, with flat caps and waistcoats for the men and 1920s flapper outfits for the ladies.

Tickets for two shows in September sold out just three hours after going on sale last week.

There will also be a special Get Closer event in September, where fans will be given a tour of the familiar Peaky Blinders locations, and that has also sold out.

Showcase for young performers

DUDLEY Performing Arts (DPA) is presenting a series of spring concerts featuring the best of the borough's young musicians, singers and dancers.

The DPA spring dance festival is being held in Dudley Town Hall on March 15 at 7pm. Those taking part include school and community dance groups. The DPA contemporary festival is also in the town hall on March 19 at 7pm and features guitar, percussion and keyboard groups. A festival of song follows at the venue on March 22 featuring school choirs and soloists.

There is a drumming day in Netherton Arts Centre on March 24 and the DPA wind festival is at Dudley Town Hall on March 26 and 27. The final concert in the town hall on March 28 features string groups.

Children's author visits

A CHILDREN'S author is visiting the St James's Road library in Dudley to talk about his new book.

Dave Robertson, from Kingswinford, has written a number of books inspired by his border collie Misty. The latest is entitled 'On The Dog Walk'.

Dave's talk is on Thursday, February 22, starting at 2.15pm. The free event will also include dog-themed craft activities for children.

"With my story I want to inspire people who are in an abyss because of their teeth. I looked for help from the Denture Clinic and it's been a journey full of professionalism, kindness and thanks go to everyone who played their part in restoring my smile and ability to enjoy life again."

ATTRACTIVE, bubbly, confident and with a contagious laugh – there are simply not enough descriptive words to capture in a single sentence the experience of meeting professional chef, Jacky Standish.

Looking younger than her 57 years, Jacky has engaged on an unusual "bucket list", though she's quick to point out: "I'm definitely not dying. Quite the opposite!"

For the dog-lover, who confesses "she doesn't know who to smile at first," the list all about making up for lost time.

It's hard to imagine, this woman who laughs easily and is generous with her smiles, would ever want for anything, but reflecting on recent years she admits "there's plenty of catching up to be done."

Relaxing over a coffee, the former chef and house manager to Hagley Hall's Lord and Lady Cobham, explains that enduring decades of teeth troubles left her battling with some very dark days before receiving implant treatment at North Street Dental and Implant Clinic in Dudley.

"I was deeply ashamed of my teeth. I could cook fabulous meals for the rich and famous who regularly visited the hall. But for my own pleasure with food, it was becoming a nightmare as I found it more and more difficult to eat the meals I prepared.

"My bucket list . . . all the places I want to eat out," she muses, "and I just might cook at home and throw a dinner party . . . that sounds terribly old fashioned, doesn't it," she adds.

"I always used to find meals out with family and friends quite daunting and felt my presence compromised those with whom I was out. Of course, they'd have to find a restaurant with a menu offering something I could chew," Jacky says.

Jacky, suffered with periodontal (gum) disease for decades. "I was informed by my family dentist I would experience dental issues throughout my life.

"At one point I was attending the dentists every three months to try and control the problems, but no matter how I tried, as the years passed I lost more and more teeth," she recalls.

Jacky's confidence plummeted so badly she would walk her dog at 5am to avoid meeting people. "By my mid-50s the erosion on my confidence was as severe as the erosion on my gums," she says.

Now, with four implants retaining an upper overdenture and a partial lower traditional prosthetic, she's thrilled with her new smile. "No-one would ever know they are not my natural teeth. Out with my dog, I can now speak to people and ask 'what sort of dog have you got on your lead?'"

Now look at me!

Jacky, who recently renovated her newly-purchased bungalow, adds: "Everything was finished except a makeover of the front garden. I could have paid to have it done, but decided to invest in my teeth. It was no good having a front garden when you have no front teeth." The surgery was carried out by North Street's implant dentist Owain Rees BDS DGDG (UK) Dip Imp Dent (UCL) GDC 61576.

Summing up her experience Jacky concluded: "I wake up feeling remarkably good, my jaw sore from all the smiling. I came for an initial consultation with Steven [practice principal Steven Burchell Dip CDT RCS Eng GDC 108353] and I could hardly lift my head up.

Thousands are needed to join the 'pink army'

Hundreds of females joined the pink army to take part in the fundraising Race for Life at Himley last year

THOUSANDS of women and girls are needed to join the 'pink army' and make a stand against cancer by taking part in the Race for Life.

A whole host of 5k, 10k and Pretty Muddy obstacle course events are taking place across the Black Country, Staffordshire and Birmingham.

In 2017, more than £700,000 was generated by mothers, daughters, sisters and friends coming together to show their commitment to the cause. Now a rallying call has been issued to women and girls to sign up and help to raise more vital funds this summer.

The traditional 5k and 10k Race for Life events, organised by Cancer Research UK, see women and girls donning all manner of pink clothing and accessories to walk, jog or run the courses. While Pretty Muddy sees participants jumping over inflatable obstacles and tumbling down slides to complete this messy challenge in style.

On May 12 there will be 5k, 10k and Kids Pretty Muddy events at Weston Park on the Staffordshire-Shropshire border. The following day, May 13, Race for Life comes to Walsall Arboretum and on May 20, there will be events at Cannon Hill Park in Birmingham. Wolverhampton's West Park will host a 5k Race for Life on June 17. Thousands are expected to descend on Himley Park, for the popular 5k on July 8.

On July 14, Pretty Muddy comes to Cofton Park in Longbridge, Birmingham and following the successful launch of Pretty Muddy at Sandwell Valley Country Park last year, it will be returning on September 29.

Emily Thompson, race manager for Wolverhampton and the Black Country, said: "The atmosphere at Race for Life is just fantastic, full of emotion. Everyone wears a back sign during the event sharing why they are taking part – in memory, or in celebration, of a friend or relative."

It's a boy for tennis champion Jordanne

WORLD champion tennis player Jordanne Whiley MBE has given birth to a baby boy.

Her son Jackson Nigel McCarroll was delivered on Tuesday, January 30, at 3.30pm, weighing 7lb 13oz.

Jordanne, from Halesowen, has won ten tennis wheelchair titles, but has taken a break from the sport whilst expecting her first child.

The 25-year-old first announced she was pregnant in July, less than two weeks after winning her fourth doubles title at Wimbledon, alongside Japanese team mate Yui Kamiji.

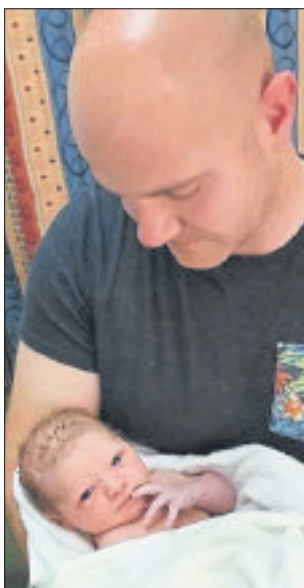

Jordanne uploaded a photograph to her Instagram account announcing she had given birth, which featured a photograph of her partner Mark McCarroll, also a wheelchair tennis player, holding their son.

She wrote: "I am so proud to introduce you to our son Jackson Nigel McCarroll, born today at 15:30 weighing in at a healthy 7lb 13oz. I can't believe he's finally here. He's absolutely perfect."

Proud

Jordanne's parents Keith and Julie are delighted to be grandparents. Her father Keith, 69, who is also a former Paralympian, said: "We are really proud of Jordanne. Jordanne is completely over the moon. The baby looks a lot like Marc, which he is really happy about."

Jordanne was 11 weeks pregnant last year when she won the wheelchair women's doubles title at Wimbledon. It was the ninth grand slam doubles title show won. She has also won the Australian Open twice, the French Open twice and the US Open twice. She won the grand slam singles title at the US Open in 2015.

Jordanne's partner and coach Marc McCarroll holds their baby son Jackson and champion Jordanne is pictured enjoying her tennis success

Jordanne has also won a bronze medal at the 2012 and 2016 Paralympic Games. She was awarded her MBE in the 2015 Queens Birthday Honours. Jordanne was born with brittle bone disease, which her father Keith was also born with.

Her partner Marc, 32, who is also her coach, won the wheelchair British Open in 2014.

Marc, who was born to a family of athletes, used to play for Arsenal. But he was injured in a car accident in 2003 and took up wheelchair tennis two years later.

Jordanne's father revealed she has plans to get back into tennis. He said: "Jordanne is looking at whether she wants to get back to tennis. It will be a hard task but she will try."

18 JLR's i54 plant biggest and busiest in UK

Dudley Chronicle Thursday, February 8, 2018

MORE than 300,000 petrol and diesel engines came off the production line at Jaguar Land Rover's factory on Wolverhampton's i54 site last year.

It makes the plant the biggest and busiest auto engine factory in the UK. The figures confirm JLR's standing as the biggest car maker and auto engine maker in the UK last year, according to industry body the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders (SMMT).

The car company made 532,107 vehicles in the UK last year – the third year when it was the UK's number one car producer – while the Wolverhampton factory manufactured 305,907 of its Ingenium diesel and petrol engines.

Investment

It follows massive investment at the i54 site, where the £1 billion engine plant has now expanded to cover two million sq ft. The workforce at the site has now expanded beyond its original target of creating 1,400 jobs.

Jaguar Land Rover has maintained its position as the largest vehicle manufacturer in the UK despite a 2.3 per cent drop from record production highs seen in 2016 at its plants at Castle Bromwich, Solihull and Halewood on Merseyside. Meanwhile it is cutting car production at its Castle Bromwich factory, where it makes many of its Jaguar models.

Join race to Sway as rockers head back

MIDLANDS rockers Ocean Colour Scene will play a show at Wolverhampton Racecourse later this year.

The Birmingham band, which enjoyed huge success in the 1990s, will play a summer gig at the racecourse on August 31. The band had hits with The Riverboat Song, Sway and The Day We Caught the Train. Tickets cost £29.

Take-off for air show helicopter

An assortment of ex-Royal Air Force helicopters which will be on display for the centenary event

ORGANISERS of the RAF Cosford Air Show have announced an assortment of ex-Royal Air Force helicopters which will be on display for the centenary event in June.

One of the flying highlights will be the world's only airworthy Bristol 171 Sycamore, making its first appearance at a UK flying display since its restoration to top condition by the Flying Bulls, based in Austria.

The Sycamore was the first British-designed helicopter to enter production and served with the Royal Air Force between 1953 and 1972 in a number of roles, including VIP transportation.

Other ex-RAF helicopters appearing in the flying display include the yellow Westland Whirlwind, performing a search-and-rescue display, and the Gazelle Squadron, who will perform a synchronised aerial ballet in their two Westland Gazelle helicopters.

On the ground, a number of helicopters will be parked together as part of the unique RAF100 static exhibition including a Sea King, Wessex and Whirlwind.

Peter Reoch, air show operations manager, said: "Showcasing the world's only airworthy examples of the Whirlwind and Sycamore helicopters is really exciting for us."

The show is on Sunday, June 10. Tickets cost £25.

WEST Midlands Police is to close more police stations under plans which will see officers work out of fire stations and council offices. Dozens of police stations have shut in the past three years but Chief Constable Dave Thompson said there is scope to close even more.

However he insists the level of police bases open to the public will remain the same. A pilot on the proposal has already started with Old Hill Police Station in Cradley Heath closing and officers moving to Hadens Cross Fire Station, half a mile away.

It comes as the police force must find savings of £22 million over the next year while battling against a 14 per cent rise in recorded crime in the West Midlands last year including a 22 per cent increase in murders.

There are 23 police bases in the Black Country, eight in Dudley and five in each of Walsall, Wolverhampton and Sandwell – with only some still open to the public.

Policing

The Black Country has lost more than a dozen police bases in the last two years as part of £8.6m cuts.

Mr Thompson said: "We certainly don't need as many police stations to work out of at the moment and so we will, in the next few weeks, be beginning to talk about how many of our local neighbourhood teams could be based with another agency."

In 2016 Wolverhampton saw closures to stations at Heath Town, Graisle, Oxley, Pennwood Court and Staveley House – the latter in Whitmore Reans has recently been earmarked as a prayer hall.

In the same year Walsall Police Station in Green Lane closed after serving the town for around half a century.

Hundreds of festive drink drivers caught

HUNDREDS of suspected drink and drug drivers were caught during the Christmas period, as police cracked down hard on "reckless" motorists putting lives at risk.

Officers from West Midlands Police and the Central Motorway Police Group arrested 251 drivers for being over the alcohol limit through December, and 40 for being under the influence of drugs.

The highest alcohol recording was 184 micrograms in 100 millilitres of breath, more than five times the legal limit.

West Midlands PCC David Jamieson said: "People driving under the influence of drink or drugs are a menace on our roads. They put their own and other people's lives at risk."

"Drinking alcohol then driving is the most dangerous thing a driver can do. I've seen first-hand the damage drink and drug driving can have."

Garden centre customers raise £24k for charity

A GARDEN centre near King-swinford has raised more than £24,000 for a sight loss charity in a bid to fund care and support for the blind.

Ashwood Nurseries garden centre collected £24,859 for Sedgley-based Beacon.

The donation is all set to benefit those at the charities Independent Living Centre in Sedgley – which allows the blind and visually impaired to take part in sporting events, social events and exercise classes.

Martin Rock, Independent living skills team leader at the Beacon Centre, said: "We are incredibly grateful to everyone at Ashwood Nurseries, and all its customers, for raising this amazing amount of money for us."

"It will enable us to continue supporting local people who are living with sight loss."

Skills

"At our Independent Living Centre in Sedgley we help people with visual impairment's to maintain their independence, by helping them to learn new skills, such as cookery and using IT equipment."

"We also provide a social activities, such as arts and crafts, sporting events and exercise classes; activities that many of our customers thought they could never take part in again after losing their sight."

The centre, which chooses a different charity each year to donate to, raised the money by holding regular open days for its private garden, John's Garden, and by offering guided Hellebore behind the scenes tours.

Barbara Cartwright, Ashwood Nurseries' charity co-ordinator said: "John Massey, Ashwood's owner, chose Beacon as our charity of the year 2017 because he admires the work that the charity does in helping local people with sight loss.

"The Beacon's mobile advice service, the Beacon Bus, visits Ashwood Nurseries on a regular basis offering free advice and support to our customers who have questions or concerns regarding sight issues."

"We were also fortunate to receive a number of individual private donations from our wonderful customers and friends and we would like to say a big thank you to anyone who supports our charity."

Ashwood Nurseries has also announced that WINGS of Wombourne, which supports young people with special needs, is its charity for 2018.

Duncan Edwards and Bobby Charlton in the Nesscliffe team of 1957, with Brian Griffiths, front row, centre

I was team-mate of legend Duncan

It was a tackle he wasn't going to forget in a hurry. When Derek Thorpe's army football team took on their neighbouring regiment, his sergeant-major warned their opponents had one or two tasty players in their side.

Early in the game, the nippy young winger found himself dispossessed by a strapping defender playing for the other side, and decided to pay him back.

"He tackled me early on, and I thought 'I'll have you next time'," recalls Derek, now 81. "I landed about two yards further up the pitch than I did the first time."

That player was Duncan Edwards. By the time he turned out for the Royal Army Ordnance Corps team, based in Nesscliffe, near Shrewsbury, he already had three England caps under his belt, and Derek remembers being in awe of the power, skill and speed of the great man.

"Him and Bobby Charlton were both in the same team, and they really stood out," he said. "I thought Duncan Edwards was better than Bobby Charlton, and I later read that Bobby also thought he was."

While Charlton would go on to taste World Cup success and enjoy a long, glittering career, Edwards' life would tragically be cut short as a result of the Munich air crash.

Refuel

It is 60 years this week since the disaster tore apart Matt Busby's legendary 'Busby Babes' Manchester United team which had blazed a trail for English football in the newly formed UEFA Cup. On February 6 1958, the chartered British European Airways plane had stopped in Germany to refuel, and crashed as it attempted to take off for its final leg of the journey.

Of the 44 people on board, 23 were killed. Charlton was one of the survivors. Edwards was one of eight United team members who died from injuries sustained during the crash.

"They were such great lads," added Derek. "Duncan was from Dudley, and I was from Dawley, so the lingo was pretty similar. After he had knocked me flying with his tackle, he came over to me, and said 'you all right, kid?'"

Derek, who was a regular with the Kings Shropshire Light Infantry (KSLI) at Copthorne Barracks, says he would regularly play against the Manchester United stars during their National Service in the mid-1950s.

"Because they were just up the road, we would play each other a lot," he said. But Derek recalls the games were often one-sided affairs, with the KSLI lads beating the Nesscliffe team on just one occasion, adding: "They were a cut above the rest," he added.

Also in that team was Brian Griffiths, a full back for Shrewsbury Town. Like many professional footballers from the Midlands, he was posted to Nesscliffe for his National Service so he could continue to keep playing for his club. "Duncan was already there," said Brian, aged 83. "He was a corporal. He was a smashing lad. He was not aggressive, and his football capabilities were just unbelievable."

Brian says he wife Iris stayed in touch with Edwards's mother Sarah-Anne after the star's death, adding: "She was very proud of him."

To commemorate the disaster, a book of remembrance has been handed over in the German city. It has been presented to the minister of the Church of St Peter near Manchesterplatz, a street near the airport named in honour of the club. It is now on public display there. Rose Cook-Monk, who has made a film about Duncan's life, visited the scene of the tragedy and witnessed the opening of a memorial garden on the airfield, which is now disused.

She said: "It was emotional to be there and see the departure lounge they all left from," she said. "I didn't want to come out without Dudley being mentioned so myself and the Mayor of Dudley Councillor Dave Tyler came up with the idea of the people of Dudley remembering Duncan."

Musical mischief in Shop of Horrors

Richard Probert as Orin, Matt Colley as Seymour and Richard Homer as Mushnik get ready for Little Shop of Horrors

A NEWLY-FORMED theatre company will be making musical mischief in their first production.

Star-Struck Theatre Company will be showcasing its version of American horror-comedy-musical Little Shop of Horrors at the Dormston Mill Theatre, Sedgley, from February 21 until 24.

Chairman Richard Probert said the play could be enjoyed by all the family. He explained: "We are a brand new amateur theatre company and this will be our first production. We have members from all around the Black Country and we have managed to attract amazing talent."

"The play tells the story of a geeky guy but don't be deceived by the title - it is a light-hearted comedy and is not scary. "There is a bit of a love story in there too."

Matt Colley and Vicky Bull play the lead roles of Seymour and Audrey, with Richard as Orin the dentist. Tickets cost from £10 to £14, concessions at £6, call 01902 546340.

Car charge fund fails to spark any interest

NOT one council in the Black Country and Staffordshire has signed up for a Government-funded drive to install electric roadside charge points for motorists.

More than £4 million is available under the On-Street Residential Scheme, which was launched in 2016. It offers money to pay for 75 per cent of any street charge point installation, granting up to £7,500 per charger.

However, no council in our region has taken advantage of the incentive - despite a 35 per cent increase in the sale of electric cars last year.

Only Portsmouth, Cambridge, Luton, Kettering and Kensington & Chelsea in London have taken up on the Government's offer.

Wolverhampton council says it has received almost £500,000 from Whitehall in a separate scheme to introduce a charging point network over next three years.

A spokesman said: "We have longer-term aims to look at residential on-street charging points but we feel it is important we first focus our resources on getting the city centre infrastructure right before looking to expand the network."

Staffordshire County Council and Walsall Council said the funding offered was not enough to make the residential scheme viable.

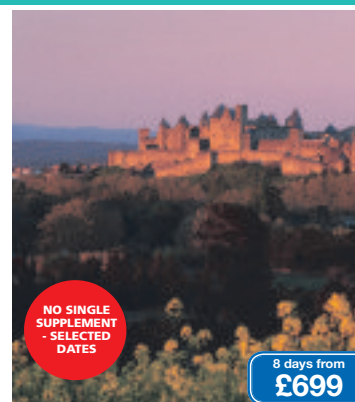

Dudley Council and Sandwell Council said the scheme could be entered as part of a joint partnership with neighbouring authorities, and Dudley was expecting to take part in talks.

Sandwell councillor David Hosell, cabinet member for highways and environment, said: "This funding is being discussed at a Black Country transport officers meeting later this month."

Bill considers a title tilt for leadership of UKIP

Bill Etheridge has suggested he could throw his hat into the ring to become UKIP's fifth different leader in 19 months

WEST Midlands Euro MP and Sedgley councillor Bill Etheridge could be in line for a fourth UKIP leadership bid – but only if no other candidate comes forward who ‘gives a damn’, he says.

The West Midlands MEP is one of a number of senior arty members who has called for current leader Henry Bolton to stand down. This follows reports of racist comments by Mr Bolton's former girlfriend Jo Marney, particularly remarks about Prince Harry's fiancée the American actress Meghan Markle.

Mr Etheridge has suggested he could throw his hat into the ring to become the party's fifth leader in the last 19 months.

He said: "If no one else comes forward who gives a damn about people and who understands this kind of thing, well, we'll see."

Mr Bolton's future is set to be decided later this month by a members' vote at an extraordinary meeting of the party in Birmingham. Mr Etheridge added: "Bolton won't win at the EGM, but if he did win, I'll carry on fighting."

"I'm not against him because frankly he is not worth the effort. But I'll carry on fighting for Brexit and working for the interests of people in this area."

Mr Etheridge quit as UKIP's spokesman for sport last month in protest at Mr Bolton's leadership.

Run hailed another staggering success

HUNDREDS of runners braved muddy conditions in a gruelling 10-mile event.

Around 500 people took part in the Stourbridge Stagger race on Sunday, tackling the 'multi-terrain' course. Those leading the event said the day had been a 'success' and plans were already in the pipeline for it to return next year.

Race director Ian Clarke said: "It was a success. The course was testing and there was some tight racing at the front."

"People come back year after year to do it – I think they just like the course. If the marshals are friendly and encouraging the runners appreciate that."

Mr Clarke said the £10 charge for the event was not a bid to make profit.

He added: "It is peanuts really. We do it because we want to give something back to the sport. It will be back next year."

The fairytale where the ogre is a hero

Ninety minutes. Every day. That's how long make-up artists take to transform Mid-Wales actor Steffan Harri into the nation's favourite ogre – Shrek.

The show is back on the road for an extended run, including shows at Birmingham's New Alexandra Theatre from February 14 to 25.

The performances follow a record-breaking UK and Ireland Tour, during which it earned rave reviews.

Shrek the Musical is based on the story and characters from the Oscar®-winning DreamWorks Animation film.

The hilarious and spectacular production turns the world of fairytales upside down in an all-singing, all-dancing, must-see musical comedy.

Shrek and his loyal steed Donkey set off on a quest to rescue the beautiful Princess Fiona (Laura Main) from her tower, guarded by a fire breathing love-sick dragon.

The fun gets serious with the vertically challenged Lord Farquaad, a gang of fairytale misfits, and a biscuit with attitude, creating an irresistible mix of adventure, laughter and romance that is guaranteed to delight audiences of all ages.

Steffan loves it: "I was over the moon to be given the part. I toured with Shrek and was an understudy to Lord Farquaad. When I got the call to do the lead role this time, I was playing in Les Miserables. It doesn't get much different from that to this. But I jumped at the opportunity. I was keen not to go back to the part of Farquaad because I'd done that. I thought it would be good to have a go at Shrek this time and a few auditions later they gave me the job. I was over the moon."

He laughs when he remembers how he learned he was going to take the starring role. He was at work and it was about 7pm, half an hour before he was due on stage in Les Miserables in the West End. "It was incredible. I went on stage still buzzing from the news. That show was a bit of a whirlwind. But I do love Shrek the Musical. Not only is the music absolutely brilliant and a pleasure to sing every night, the show also has a book that is so funny and witty."

In some respects, Shrek is like a pantomime. It's designed equally with parents and children in mind – with some gags going over the kids' heads and causing mirth among their parents.

"You're right. It's not just for the kids it's for the adults as well. The dads who are dragged for the Saturday matinee come out laughing because of the Lord Farquaad material. The kids don't really get that."

Steffan is well-versed in the original 2001 Shrek movie, having enjoyed the best-selling computer-animated fantasy based on William Steig's 1990 fairy tale picture book of the same name. He enjoyed the voice overs from Mike Myers, Eddie Murphy, Cameron Diaz and John Lithgow – not forgetting the equally enjoyable sequels.

"I'm 26 now so I was about 10 when it came out. I remember quite vividly going to the Welshpool Solar Cinema to watch it. When I got the job, I went back to watch the film. It really is brilliant." Shrek is a real feather in Steffan's cap.

Some day my prince will come –
Shrek and Princess Fiona

After all, he's still only 26 and is already leading the line in major touring productions. He learned his trade in a quite backwater, Caereinion, in Mid-Wales, near Welshpool.

"They didn't offer drama at Caereinion High School so I looked elsewhere and Theatr Maldwyn came about in year 7-8. I learned a lot from the three teachers there and that helped me massively. That made me look elsewhere and that's when I decided to do drama and gained a place at the Guildford School of Acting. It was a fantastic school and I had the best three years there learning some fantastic skills. Now I'm out working – and that's when the real learning starts."

Steffan is thoroughly enjoying his career. He's striking out, making a name for himself and taking up opportunities that come his way. "It's great and there's such variety – literally, from Les Miserables to Shrek."

"This part is totally different to everything I've ever done before. I have a 90-minute make-up call every day so that I can be fully transformed with prosthetics. After that, I have to put on the costume and that weighs an additional 45lbs." Once all that is done, he's transformed and ready to play the ogre. He has created his own interpretation of Shrek from scratch, putting his own stamp on it.

"It's unusual to go out when you're so heavily made up. After the show, I go out of the stage door onto the street and pass people who've seen the show and they have no idea that it was me. But the anonymity doesn't mean I don't connect with Shrek – I do. OK, so Lord Farquaad steals a few scenes, but Shrek is completely believable. He has to be."

Life is moving quickly for Steffan and he's looking forward to starring at a major theatre in Birmingham so early into his career.

"I never thought I'd be leading a show at the age of 26. It's a great honour and I've very fortunate to them for giving me the opportunity. But there's a lot more that I'd like to do. I'd love to do straight drama and TV as well. I've done a bit of TV back in Wales on S4C and I would love doing more and see where it takes me. I'd like to work again in London again too. Working and being happy and healthy is as much as I can ask for and I'm very grateful that I have these opportunities."

Inheaven – turbocharged riffs

Indie rock fans will be Inheaven for arts centre gig

SOUTH London indie rockers Inheaven bring their turbocharged riffs to Wolverhampton's Newhampton Arts Centre (NAC) on Tuesday.

The quartet built around the instant hooks and striking vocals of guitarist James Taylor and bassist Chloe Little were snapped up by the Cult Records label, run by The Strokes' Julian Casablancas.

Their self-titled debut album was released last September including the single Regeneration. The band have since released an acoustic EP and a new track for the new year, Sweet Dreams Baby.

There's another major indie rock night at the NAC, on Dunkley Street, next Friday, February 16, when one of Birmingham's top bands, JAWS, top a triple bill also featuring Synthetic Recipe and Tinned Astronaut.

Gigs tonight (Thursday) include Nightmares on Wax at the Hare and Hounds in Kings Heath in support of new album Shape The Future, and satirical rockers Half Man Half Biscuit with The Humdrum Express at the Robin 2 in Bilston.

Got those cigar box guitar blues

Smethwick guitar maker and musician John Wormald – aka Chickenbone John, The Godfather of The Cigar Box Guitar – is back again with Boxstock, the UK Cigar Box Guitar Festival.

Following the success of last year's event at the Slade Rooms, the festival returns to the Wolverhampton venue for more homemade blues-busting guitar on Saturday.

In a time when money's too tight to mention, just like the old days, some hard-up musicians have gone back to the traditional approach of literally making their own entertainment by making their own instruments.

Seasick Steve helped bring this humble instrument to worldwide attention. As he doesn't do many UK dates these days, here's an opportunity to catch some real roots music on your own doorstep.

Heading the bill are Blackriver Bluesman and Bad Mood Hudson, a heavy metal duo all the way from Finland. After being the success of last year's event, the festival has brought back the Dusk Brothers from Bristol and super-busker Bemuzic from Cambridge.

During the daytime Chickenbone John, pictured, will be leading workshops on how to make cigar box guitars and powerhouse one-man band Hollowbelly will be leading sessions on how to play the cigar box guitar.

During these daytime sessions there will also be plenty of traders selling their handmade instruments, plus open mic sessions for those who feel ready to perform.

It's also an ideal way to find out more about the alt-blues music scene.

Tickets for the evening gig are £14 but admission is free at the Slade Rooms from noon to 5.30pm.

Ballet is a beauty in the Russian style

The curse of a wicked fairy means a beautiful princess falls into an enchanted sleep which can only be broken by a prince's kiss. Enter the opulent world of Imperial Russia for one of the grandest ballets with a score by Tchaikovsky and choreography by Marius Petipa. The Sleeping Beauty is a highlight from the Birmingham Royal Ballet repertoire on a par with The Nutcracker. The Sleeping Beauty is at Birmingham Hippodrome from Tuesday to Saturday, February 24.

Comedy nights with reality TV bridegroom

There's a funny week coming up with several top comedians in the area. Canadian stand-up Bobby Mair, as seen on Russell Howard's Good News and 8 Out Of 10 Cats, is at Wolverhampton's Slade Rooms tomorrow night (Friday). Last year Bobby – apparently a distant cousin to Justin Beiber – featured on a reality TV show about his wedding to fellow comic Harriet Kemsley. Bobby And Harriet Get Married was shown on the Viceland channel. Bobby will be back in the region at Bromsgrove Artrix on February 17 and Birmingham Glee Club on March 9.

Next Thursday (Feb 15) Alun Cochrane is at the Slade Rooms. A TV regular, Alun is also co-host of The Frank Skinner Show on Absolute Radio. The master of puns and one-liners Milton Jones is at the New Alexandra Theatre in Birmingham on Sunday.

Charles I's Treasures Reunited (BBC2, 9pm)
His merits as a monarch may have been called into question (to put it mildly), but Charles I did have an impressive eye for a painting, acquiring pieces by the finest artists of the past, including D, rer, Rubens, Titian and Holbein, and commissioning works from leading contemporary artists such as Van Dyck and Rubens. Following his execution in 1649, his collection was sold off by Cromwell and scattered across Europe. Charles II reclaimed some pieces, but others went on to be shown in museums across the world. Now for the first time since the 17th century, the key masterpieces have been reunited and are on display at the Royal Academy. Brenda Emmanus presents.

Lost Pyramids of the Maya (Channel 4, 8pm)
The Mayan civilisation is now sadly consigned to the history books, but its legacy resonates strongly within our own to this day – whether it’s elements of architecture still found within Mexico and Central America, ancient prehispanic sites scattered throughout the region, or in the plotlines of Hollywood movies (for some reason we’re preoccupied with misinterpreted Mayan prophecies of armageddon). This documentary utilises exclusive access to the results of a huge scientific research project to learn more about the ancient civilisation, revealing fascinating insights into a people who remained largely hidden within the jungles, and transforming everything we thought we knew about the Maya.

Perez has a new case to crack on an old murder

We know what you're thinking – not ANOTHER crime drama.

After all, TV isn't exactly short of them, whether they're home grown or being imported from the US or, as is more likely these days, Europe.

There's no wonder that the recent National Television Awards introduced a category dedicated to them – there are just so many being made these days.

Two of them have been inspired by the books of Ann Cleeves. Vera recently ended its more recent run on ITV, and now Shetland is back for its fourth series, two years on from its predecessor.

Although born and raised in England, Cleeves knows the place well, having lived there; she's currently living in Whitley Bay, close to where her Vera books are set.

Some fans have complained that the TV plots don't follow the exact pattern of her novels, but she's relaxed about that.

"The TV adaptations are very often very different - the scriptwriters cut some characters and add others, cut big chunks of plot and sometimes they even change the murderer!," she laughs.

"But prose and film are different forms. Besides, the book stops being mine every time someone reads it. Each reader brings their own imagination, history and prejudice to the story and each writer has to learn to let go. Adaptation just takes the process a bit further."

One of the secrets of Shetland's success is its far north setting – the isles themselves are almost a character in their own right.

"I think the viewers are naturally drawn to the place, the setting and curious about what Shetland is like," explains Douglas Henshall, who plays the lead character, DI Jimmy Perez. "And, beyond the location, it's a well written drama which draws you in."

This time around, fans of the books don't need to worry about a favourite story being torn apart by a screenwriter, because this time, it's a completely original tale that runs throughout the six-part series.

"David Kane has created a compelling and distinctive crime story told across six hours. We are also thrilled to have the brilliant core cast return," says executive producer Kate Bartlett.

Her colleague Gaynor Holmes adds: "Shetland has a loyal following and we're sure they will be thrilled with the surprises we've got for them this time around."

The plot focuses on local man Thomas Malone, who has spent the past 23 years behind bars after being found guilty of murdering teenager Lizzie Kilmuir. Malone has always protested his innocence, and when his conviction is eventually overturned, it's up to Perez and the team to find out what really happened to Lizzie.

Perez speaks to the original investigating officer, Drew McColl. Now retired, he has plenty to say about the case, and explains why, despite DNA evidence to the contrary, he still believes Malone is guilty.

Douglas Henshall stars in Shetland, Tuesday, BBC1, 9pm

BEST OF THE REST

MONDAY

Trauma, Channel 4, 10pm
ITV, 9pm

New series. After a bad day at work, Dan Bowker arrives home drunk to discover that his 15-year-old son Alex has not come home and no-one knows where he is. Meanwhile, off-duty trauma surgeon Jon Allerton is at home celebrating his birthday when he is called into work to operate on Alex, who has been stabbed. When the medical team is unable to save Alex, Dan cannot let go of the idea that the surgeon is responsible for the death of his son. Thriller, starring Adrian Lester and John Simm, with Rowena King and Lyndsey Marshal

Julius Caesar Revealed, Channel 4, 10pm
BBC1, 9pm

The classicist sets out on a quest to uncover the real Julius Caesar, challenging the received popular view of the Roman emperor. She looks at how he became the autocratic ruler of Rome, the tactics of his military campaigns, his use of spin and PR on his way to the top, and the reasons behind his assassination on the Ides of March in 44 BC. The scholar also examines his surprising legacy right up to the present day, revealing how his influence is still shaping language, politics and people's everyday lives.

TUESDAY

Flatpack Empire, Channel 4, 10pm
BBC2, 9pm

Cameras continue to roam the boardrooms and warehouses of one of Sweden's most successful exports since Abba. This week, one of IKEA's newest designers, Hanna-Kaarina Heikkila, wants to challenge mass production by creating an 'imperfect vase' that has the finger-marks of its creator. There's also a visit to the home of the Billy Bookcase to see what it takes to be a supplier for IKEA.

WEDNESDAY

Earth's Natural Wonders, Channel 4, 10pm
BBC1, 9pm

New series. Cameras explore some of the most breathtaking places on earth, following the lives of some of the people who call these extraordinary places home. In the first episode, cameras follow Yak-herder Thokmay Lowa as he leads his herd through one of the most treacherous mountain passes in the high Himalaya. Elsewhere, the programme follows members of Inuit communities in the Canadian Arctic as they take part in the hazardous mussel harvest, and people in Siberia searching for mammoth tusks, now released from the Siberian Permafrost after thousands of years.

Damned, Channel 4, 10pm
Channel 4 recently caused a stir with the acclaimed drama Kiri, especially over its portrayal of a social worker, played by Sarah Lancashire, who found herself in the firing line when a child in her care went missing. But that hasn't stopped the channel returning to the subject as Jo Brand's comedy about social workers is back for a second series. The run certainly feels topical as the team at Elm Heath find themselves dealing with a case of historic abuse. So, it's not a great time for Denise (Georgie Glenn) to bring Mimi (Lolly Adefope) into the fold, especially as newly single Al (Alan Davies) and a permanently stressed Rose (Brand) are too busy to mentor her.

Trauma, Monday, BBC1, 9pm

THURSDAY

Children Who Kill, Channel 4, 10pm
ITV, 9pm

Juveniles found guilty of murder in the US are given life, with no chance of parole – a headline approach that in 2015 prompted the American Supreme Court to rule such sentences as 'unconstitutional'. With the system now under review, Susanna Reid travels to the US and talks to young killers about their crimes and life in jail. Susanna also meets the families of victims, to ask how they feel about a possible change to America's approach to juvenile sentencing.

FRIDAY

Requiem, Channel 4, 10pm
BBC1, 9pm

Aron Morgan lodges a complaint against Matilda for harassing Davey, and the police are unmoved by Matilda showing them what she believes is a clue to Carys' disappearance. Rose is pushed to breaking point as old wounds are reopened, Ed gets jittery as Trudy gives him the cold shoulder, and Graves becomes increasingly suspicious that he's hiding something. Sylvia reveals the peculiar ancestry of the Dean family, Hal identifies the source of the eerie music on the audiotapes, and Trudy remembers a crucial detail about the day Carys vanished. Psychological thriller, starring Lydia Wilson.

Pub's cooking up a real storm

With the recent conditions making driving a risk-taking exercise of the highest degree, you want to find some good grub at the end of your quest to make that risk worthwhile.

Outside left you feeling like Jack Frost himself was running his prickly tongue all over your face, so having something hot and good-tasting in your belly was a terrific tonic.

It was a bonus, then, that the venue itself and staff working within the fairly recently opened Cookhouse & Pub offered the same warmth and friendliness as the food.

We had actually tried to go the night before. But, of course, it's a busy time of year and everyone would be out with friends or co-workers. . . and we hadn't booked. On top of this, they had lost the heaters in one half of the restaurant so were running on a smaller capacity. The staff were very apologetic saying sorry for the wait for tables and trying to fit in an alternative for another night if we didn't have time to wait.

BOOTHOS

We took up the offer of a table the next evening and, based on our brief dealings with the staff so far, signs were good that this place had potential. So, 24 hours later it was take two. The restaurant was back up to full capacity and judging by the warmth swirling around the venue they had their heating back on in all corners.

Again we had service with a smile, one of the sizeable booths at the back of the venue giving a bit of privacy to our meal and we were seated near the kitchen to be enticed by the smells floating out from within.

Of note here is the attention given to those who choose to dine alone. Situated next to a Premier Inn on the A4123 Wolverhampton Road in Oldbury – one of the main routes between the M5 and Wolverhampton city

Garlic and chilli prawns, and Moroccan lamb

Modern art – inside the decor is stylish centre – they must undoubtedly get a lot of business trippers with laptop in tow looking to get a bit of prep done over a good bit of food.

To cater for that, they have comfortable looking 'solo seats' with a large enough table to accommodate plate and 'puter with plugs and adjustable lamps to boot. We hadn't seen this idea before, except perhaps for in London, so the idea was rather novel to us.

First thing was to treat the tastebuds with a starter. We were able to make our selections pretty quickly – one of us pregnant and with a constant hankering for meat, while the other just overweight and with a greedy yearning for everything fattening.

I had the Moroccan-style lamb koftas, which sat on a plush bed of hummus and mint with fresh pomegranate seeds topped with Middle Eastern spices. The other half had the honey and mustard pork chipolatas with chopped parsley.

We had both picked our mains off the specials board. I had the special mixed grill, which differed from the regular option with the inclusion of tender, delicious ribs that peeled off the bone with ease.

As for the other half, she had the special lamb ragu which was sweetened nicely and came with a healthy side portion of garlic ciabatta.

This time I opted for the salted caramel, brownie and popcorn sundae but my girlfriend decided liquid was the way forward and had a C&P hot chocolate made with C&P mini chocolate beans, a giant marshmallow and whipped cream on top.

Too soon it was bedtime. And a mental note was added to come back soon with family and friends.

All-new and much improved Subaru XV SUV

By John Griffiths

It's a mystery to me why Subaru isn't a bigger seller in Britain, reaching nowhere near the numbers in other countries including much of Europe.

The company sees itself as something of a niche manufacturer, but while its cars are different (no bad thing) they do have a reputation for reliability and toughness but seem to have lost the public's eye since the glory days of world rally success with the quicker Imprezas.

Its latest model is an all new – and significantly improved – version of its XV sports utility vehicle which in terms of price, all-round competence and driveability is a serious rival to those at the top of this class.

Safest

Built on a new and much stronger platform, the XV is officially the safest car in its class according to EuroNCAP, which carries out crash testing on all new models. It also has a considerably modernised and upgraded interior to make it attractive to buyers.

But if volume sales are the target, it's hard to understand why – apart from politics and bad publicity about diesels generally – Subaru's excellent 'boxer' diesel engine isn't available. And the more powerful of the two petrol versions, the 2.0 litre, only comes with 'Lineartronic' automatic transmission.

Prices start at £24,955 for the entry level 1.6 version upto £28,465 for the 2.0 litre auto in 'premium' specification.

Not cheap, but competitive if you compare it with a bunch of rival compact SUVs, remembering that usually only top spec versions of those have four wheel drive, if it's available at all.

It's those Subaru differences which make the XV one of the most competent, and safe, cars in its class, on or off-road.

It starts with the flat four 'boxer engine, which aids stability by lowering the car's centre of gravity, plus the symmetrical four wheel drive system developed not only for dedicated off-roaders but also for enabling rally cars to travel at high speeds on loose and slippery surfaces.

It has 220mm of ground clearance and the latest XV has also inherited the 'X Mode' button from Subaru's most expensive Forester and Outback for tackling more extreme off-road conditions. It coped easily with some serious wet and muddy fields and tracks during the test exercise in Gloucestershire.

In terms of price, all-round competence and driveability this car is a serious rival to those at the top of this class

It also includes a hill descent control to automatically use pulses of braking to keep you safe on slippery downhill stretches. There's a 'hill hold' system to help you on uphill sections too.

The 2.0 litre petrol engine has been heavily modified and improved for the new car, and with 154bhp it's pretty lively on the road – 0 to 62mph takes a fraction over ten seconds, while the test drive produced a not unreasonable 35mpg.

The lineartronic auto is a CVT (continuously variable transmission) and reacts pleasingly quickly to driver demands on the throttle, for example when overtaking.

But one of the biggest areas of improvement in the new XV is in its on-road manners and ride quality. This is in no small part due to a considerable strengthening and stiffening of the new platform – torsional, rear subframe, front suspension and lateral rigidity are all increased dramatically.

Apart from safety – greater protection in the event of a crash – this has benefits that range from more positive steering to improved roadholding. It means a quieter, smoother ride too: it's a world away from the crashing, lumpy suspension and rock 'n' roll experience of off-roaders of the past. Yet once away from the black top, it is surprisingly well-damped and compliant over the rough stuff too.

One of the principal new safety systems fitted to all XV models is EyeSight, a stereoscopic, forward looking camera system which not only detects obstacles such as cars and pedestrians but can also identify what they are.

It acts like an adaptive cruise control, keeping you a set distance from the vehicle in front. It also alerts the driver to a potential collision and reduce speed, and if the driver doesn't react it automatically applies the brakes (including a full emergency stop if necessary) to either avoid or reduce the impact of a collision. It also helps the driver to avoid wandering out of lane.

The LED headlights dip automatically, and follow steering inputs as you corner, giving better forward visibility.

There is also a rear radar-based system, which includes blind spot monitoring (particularly useful on motorways) and cross-traffic warning – handy when you're reversing out of a parking spot.

The new XV's interior has also gone up a class, with a new instrument panel featuring much clearer and more comprehensive graphics, and a central colour touchscreen for the upgraded multimedia system which includes a DAB radio and full Apple/ smartphone connectivity.

The interior is a little larger than the previous model, with more of a premium feel, with alloy pedals and instrument surrounds supportive, sports-styled seats and soft-touch surfaces with contrasting colour stitching.

Alloy wheels, fog lamps, roof rails, electric windows, dual zone climate control, steering wheel mounted remote controls, adaptive cruise control and multiple airbags are standard across the range.

Premium trim also get satnav, leather upholstery and a sunroof.

The new XV is safer, better equipped and undoubtedly one of the most competent all-rounders in this class.

It's a car with which Subaru could raise its profile in the UK, although it remains to be seen how the current limited range will impact on potential buyers.

Three millionth Qashqai built in UK as Nissan sets sales record

Nissan Europe capped a record-breaking 2017 with the production of the three millionth Nissan Qashqai in the U.K., just over a decade after the category-defining vehicle made its debut.

The landmark achievement by Nissan's Sunderland Plant came as the company posted its best ever full-year European sales, totaling 762,574 vehicles across Datsun and Nissan models. The sales result is an increase of 3.8% from 2016.

The Qashqai played a pivotal role in helping Nissan achieve these results as the model had another record-breaking year, with sales growing 1.2%. The Sunderland Plant produced a record 346,856 units of the urban crossover, 265,520 of which were sold in Europe.

Exceptional sales of the Qashqai helped Nissan achieve a 3.7% European market share, with Spain (9.4% sales growth), France (3% sales growth) and Russia (12.4% sales growth) representing the strongest markets.

The Qashqai is the most successful model in Europe in Nissan's history, with the latest a major refresh of the second-generation model, launched in 2014. Altogether, the Nissan Qashqai has won more than 80 awards, including 19 "Car of the Year" titles.

At the heart of the Qashqai's appeal for more than 10 years has been its position as the ultimate urban crossover. It successfully blends the practicality and desirability of an SUV with the footprint, driving dynamics and running costs of a hatchback.

Award-winning D-Max has attractive offers across range

The award-winning Isuzu D-Max benefits from a number of attractive offers across the product range, including the D-Max Eiger, available from just £199 per month (excl. VAT) on Business Contract Hire.

Available in number of variants, the award-winning D-Max offers maximum performance from refined engineering and manufacturing. Equipped with a trusted 1.9L engine, the iconic Isuzu D-Max range benefits from class leading MPG and a reliable reputation.

Perfectly designed for both work and comfort, the Isuzu D-Max Eiger offers high specifications, reliability and a range of competitive finance options as standard. With 16" alloy wheels, chrome door mirrors and handles, reversing camera and remote control central locking it really takes the meaning of 'standard equipment' to a whole new level.

Isuzu's D-Max finance offers don't stop there, with many attractive quotes across the pick-up range.

Stepping up, the D-Max Yukon is available for just £239 a month (excl. VAT), over 23 months, with an initial rental of £2150.91 plus VAT. A punchy engine also benefits the Yukon, and all other D-Max variants, offering 164 PS and 360Nm of torque.

With low running costs, excellent fuel economy and topping the range, the Isuzu D-Max Blade is available from just £299 (excl. VAT) per month, allowing you to experience a sleek and dynamic pick up over an affordable two-year period.

As standard, each new vehicle comes with 5 years European roadside assistance, 125,000 miles or five-year warranty (whichever comes first), and can achieve a combined 40.4MPG, without the need for AdBlue, unlike other pick-ups in the market.

All offers end on March 31 and are available direct through any official Isuzu Dealer in the UK. For more information on offers, finance packages and dealer locations, visit www.isuzu.co.uk/isuzu-offers

Celebrating 100,000 Insignia orders

Fresh from its success at the Company Car Today CCT100 awards, where it was voted Best Upper Medium car and number two overall in the CCT100 models to meet every fleet need, the Insignia is available in Grand Sport and Sports Tourer body styles. Vauxhall's flagship range also includes a rugged Country Tourer and a forthcoming GSi performance model that will arrive in Vauxhall showrooms in the spring.

The new Insignia range is powered by a portfolio of turbocharged, four-cylinder, diesel and petrol engines from 1.5 to 2.0-litre, combined with a choice of six-speed manual or six and eight-speed automatic transmissions.

The most powerful diesel and petrol engines are also offered with innovative torque vectoring all-wheel drive.

Buyers not only benefit from numerous state-of-the-art technologies such as adaptive cruise control (which automatically adjusts the speed to follow the vehicle in front according to the selected following distance), IntelliLux LED matrix headlights (which automatically adapt to every traffic situation) and ergonomic seats certified by the back-specialists from AGR. The new Insignia also offers moderate cost of ownership compared with its competitors in the high-volume and premium segments.

Nine in ten of the new Insignia cars ordered so far come with the optional Navi 900 IntelliLink top-of-the-range infotainment system. The integrated navigation system features an eight-inch capacitive colour touchscreen. Navi 900 IntelliLink is compatible with Apple CarPlay and Android Auto, bringing the world of smartphones into Top Crossover Estate at the 4x4 Magazine Awards. Others top honours include the "Golden Steering Wheel" 2017 in Poland (Auto Świat) and Slovenia (Auto Bild) as well as "Best Car 2017" (Fleet Cars & Vans, Fleet Auto Premium) in Poland and "Fleet News of the Year" (FLEET Magazine) in the Czech Republic.

Kia Niro EV is leading firm's electric car charge

By James Baggott

Kia has unveiled an electric Niro SUV and promises it'll have a range of 238 miles when it arrives early in 2019.

Currently dubbed a "concept", the car showcases the brand's new electric vehicle technology and spearheads a charge by the Korean manufacturer to bring a whole range of electrified cars to the roads.

At the CES Show in Las Vegas, Kia said it will offer 16 electrified vehicles – including hybrids, EV and fuel cell EVs – by 2025.

An executive also let slip that the refreshed Sportage, due to arrive in the summer, will be the first to offer a hybrid option.

Although billed as a concept, the Niro EV will be launched to the press later this year and go on sale in early 2019. It is fitted with a 201bhp electric powertrain with power coming from a 64kWh lithium-polymer battery pack.

The range of 238 miles could also be extended to 300 miles, hinted execs. The new Nissan Leaf, by comparison, has a range of 235 miles.

The Niro show car is fitted with an Active Pedestrian Warning System which alerts drivers to pedestrians or cyclists crossing in front of the car.

Looks are a departure from the existing Niro

While the looks on the outside are a departure from the existing Niro, much is likely to make it across to the production car. Inside, though, some of the clever tech might not get the green light.

A Human Machine Interface for the infotainment and heating lets drivers control it by wiping a touchpad area on the steering wheel, while the car can understand voice recognition and, if it does not identify the driver, can shut down key functions.

Kia executives also hinted at a new longer-range electric Soul arriving soon, and said the next Cee'd – due in the summer – will have hybrid and electric options, as will the baby Stonic too.

A spokesman for Kia UK said: "Kia is aiming to be a leader in electric vehicle technology and will have 16 electrified models in the range by 2025, many of which will be arriving very soon indeed."

Kia also showcased a world first in-vehicle 5G connection at the show with a real-time connection between Las Vegas and the firm's head office in Seoul, South Korea.

The connection enables users to stream data-heavy content to the car's infotainment system and is likely to be rolled out on future models.

There is lots of clever tech inside the Niro

Stretched Tiguan could be a winner

By John Griffiths

A union between two car genres has produced a model which could be a winner for Volkswagen.

The company's successful Tiguan SUV – its third biggest seller after the Golf and Polo – has been 'stretched' and given the flexible seating from the Touran MPV.

The result is not unique but still rather rare: a seven-seater sports utility vehicle for under £30,000 (or just over £33,000 if you want a full four-wheel drive version).

While SUV-styled vehicle sales have soared by over 20 per cent the past three years, only flagship models are available (if at all) with four driven wheels and even fewer can seat seven. This extra flexibility and practicality in a model already well-placed in the fastest growing market sector, and at a competitive price, would seem to be exactly the right model at the right time.

While the extra two seats in the rear (which fold down individually) are probably best reserved for younger passengers on a long journey, the stretched body of the new Tiguan Allspace means its load-carrying capacity is also considerably increased – up to 700 litres with the two rear seats folded and a whopping 1,775 litres with the centre three seats folded.

At first sight the Allspace doesn't look too dissimilar to the standard, second generation Tiguan. But it is in fact 215mm (almost eight and a half inches) longer and has a wheelbase which is more than four inches longer, too: the clues are in the wider rear doors, to allow easier access to the rear seats, and the slightly higher bonnet, altered to keep the visual proportions.

VW says the rear pair of seats are best suited for people up to 5ft 2ins in height, but there is a degree of flexibility: the three seats in front slide backwards and forwards, again to enable easier access to the rear but also to create extra legroom there if necessary.

The £29,370 entry-level, front wheel drive only Allspace is powered by VW's familiar 1.4TSi turbocharged petrol engine while the cheapest four-wheel drive model is £33,115 – the proven 4MOTION system is available with the familiar 2.0 litre turbo diesel power plant, 21th 180, 190 or in the flagship version 240Ps of power on tap. There is an AWD petrol option, too, powered by a 2.0 litre turbo unit.

Specification

The test car was the 190PS version mated to the seven-speed DSG (dual clutch) automated transmission, in top specification SEL trim and a price tag of £37,730. It's lively (0 to 62mph in 8.6 seconds) and particularly smooth and quiet even by modern diesel engine standards. With seven electronically controlled ratios, you won't be aware of the gearchanges in normal driving, although it is quick to respond to driver demand – dropping one or two ratios when necessary, for example during a quick overtake.

If 190PS wasn't enough, it has a whopping 400Nm of torque, with all that pulling power available at low revs so it's quick off the mark and cruises quietly and economically at low engine speeds. It's official average is almost 48mpg. It is fitted with a diesel particulate filter and catalytic reduction system, and comes with a CO2 rating of 153g/km.

As well as the 4MOTION system, honed by years of experience in rallying as well as off-road driving, it has a sophisticated rear differential lock adding to its stability and roadholding on a wide variety of surfaces.

The suspension is a reasonable compromise between spring travel and stiffness which allows off-road forays and on-road comfort, feeling firm but not harsh.

The all-wheel drive versions also have underbody protection to prevent damage when you get in the rough, plus a modified front end to increase its 'ramp' angle for negotiating obstacles. A dial on the centre console allows the driver to set up the throttle and gearbox responses for on road, off road, snow or for individual settings.

The Allspace comes in SE Navigation and SEL trim with the latest safety and infotainment/connectivity systems, with a quality interior. The SEL test car comes with traction and stability controls plus electronic differential lock and trailer stabilisation system for those using its towing ability.

As well as multiple airbags, special crash protection systems for occupants and pedestrians are standard, as are lane assist, adaptive cruise control, radar controlled distance monitoring at the front, hill hold and parking assistance systems. There is also a system to prevent misfueling.

The test car also came with the fully digital dash, with active info display which can be customised by the driver, as well as the central colour touchscreen. Three zone air conditioning, an electric tailgate, panoramic sunroof, electric windows and mirrors, automatic lights and wipers, satnav, a multi-device interface, Bluetooth and a DAB/CD stereo are also standard.

Industry pundits believe many owners, after their first SUV experience, are looking for four instead of two wheel drive for their next car – not so much because they're heading for the hills but for peace of mind when the weather turns bad.

The Tiguan Allspace offers that choice, but with the added practicality of either seven seats or a cavernous loadspace, and at a competitive price in a market niche with not too many competitors.

Excessive Bentleyga can be practical

By Ian Donaldson

Here's a car that combines pointless excess and surprising practicality better than almost anything else on the road.

But you can do something about the excess before you buy and the practicality is still there for the taking for the length of your ownership.

First, the excess. After choosing the diesel engined version of Bentley's ship-sized and high selling Bentayga SUV you'll be faced with an options' list as long as a well tailored arm.

One of the boxes you can tick adds £2,995 to the bottom line for a dash mounted Breitling clock with dark mother of pearl face and – not joking here – ringed with eight small diamonds. So it's both naff and impossible to read at the same time.

So, with nearly three grand back in your pocket, we proceed to the practicality part of the Bentayga equation.

Choose diesel as fuel and you save £26,900 over the cost of the full fat 12-cylinder petrol model, losing only modestly in the performance stakes. You may find that 168mph and zero to 62mph in 4.8 seconds is sufficient after all.

It certainly feels plenty fast enough, if not as bonkers quick as the petrol W12. Quite near the just announced V8 petrol Bentayga, though, and a miniscule £400 cheaper.

Your respect for the performance will then turn to astonishment when you glance the fuel consumption readout – over 500 miles the Bentayga diesel on test managed 31.6mpg, and touched 40mpg-plus on a gentle motorway run.

For such a huge and heavy car that's close to miraculous and made the 17.6mpg from the

If you opt for a Breitling clock, add on £2,995 to the cost

Despite its size, there's not much legroom in the rear

W12 driven some months earlier seem utterly dipso. It means an easy 500 miles per 18 gallon tankful and much less messing about at the pumps for the Bentley's time pressed owner. And more time to enjoy driving a car that does a fine job of defying physics by making its 2.5 tonnes feel like a lighter vehicle when corners arrive – although never like a smaller one.

This is a very big machine, casting shadows over almost anything else in the car park and wide enough to make city driving an exercise in width judgement as the grocery deliveries van hurls towards you at must-make-the-slot speed.

In its element (wide, open road) the Bentayga is a near perfect way to transport four lucky people as far as they'd like to go, cocooned in leather lined luxury in a cockpit that makes you feel special every time the doors pull themselves closed the last few millimetres, thus saving you the bother of slamming them shut.

Despite its gargantuan bulk the Bentayga is merely very adequately spacious in the rear – not leg-stretchingly roomy – and the boot, while regularly shaped is modestly sized against something like ... a Skoda Superb. Bentley ownership is higher on the feel good factor and the Bentayga does not disappoint, especially with a list of optional extras that extends from TV screens in the rear (£965) to ventilated front seats with massage function (£2,805).

And that clock, if you must. Price: £135,800

Injured Gavin sees title fight put back

FRANKIE Gavin's IBO Welterweight World title fight with Bethuel Ushona has been pushed back a month after the Birmingham fighter suffered an ankle injury in training. The February 23 fight against the Namibian for the vacant title, at the Genting Arena in Birmingham, has been rescheduled to March 24.

Tickets will be honoured from the original date and the undercard – which features the likes of Josh Stokes and includes two other IBO title fights – is expected to be relatively unaffected.

Gavin's trainer Dean Edwards admitted the injury– sustained during a training camp in Ireland – had been a setback but insisted it was merely a minor one and that Frankie would be fighting fit for the new date. He said: "Frankie has sprained the ligaments in his left ankle and been advised by medics to cease training for seven to ten days. But it's a minor problem.

Gavin said: "I'm gutted but I'll be back. There is no way I'm letting myself or anyone else down."

Selby on cue for an exhibition maximum

WORLD snooker champ Mark Selby racked up a 147 break when he checked in at Stourbridge Snooker Club. The world number one played 10 frames against local players and two raffle winners and knocked in a further three century breaks, including a 132 to kick off the evening

Local snooker league stalwart Kevin Franklin, who helped organise the event, almost stole the headlines in the final frame of the evening when he lost on the black against the cueman dubbed 'The Jester from Leicester'.

But while his potting skills drew plenty of plaudits, it was his all-round demeanour that really impressed Franklin. "Mark was a class act, not just on the table but off it as well," added Franklin. "I have been to a lot of these exhibition nights and organised a fair few, but this was the best one by far.

"He had time for everyone and was still there around midnight signing autographs and having pictures taken. Initially he had been due to play eight frames but when he turned up he said he would do a bit of a question and answer session and play a couple extra frames if we wanted."

Fundraising game for club mascot's family

MASCOTS will do battle at Halesowen Town FC for a match in memory of Albion mascot Richard Eades.

Richard, who dressed as Albi Bird, died of a heart attack on Boxing Day, aged 42. Fellow mascot and friend Dave Challenor, who donned the Baggie Bird costume, has organised the match. The mascots' clash will provide the curtain-raiser for match between a West Brom All-Stars team led by former midfielder Andy Johnson and Boing FC, the Albion supporters' team father-of-two Eades used to play for.

Dave is confident mascots from Wolves, Walsall, Birmingham City, Manchester City, Sheffield United, Sheffield Wednesday, Bradford City, Yeovil Town, Hartlepool, and Exeter City will all join in the match.

Hundreds of people have already registered an interest in coming along on April 29, part of a whole day devoted to fundraising for the Eades family. It starts at 11am. It will start with a nine-a-side tournament featuring teams from all aspects of Richard's life.

Tears from fans at the memorial service

Phenomenal footballer – and an even better man

STARS paid tribute to footballing 'pioneer' Cyrille Regis at an emotional service, describing him as 'a superstar of the day, but a man of the people'.

At the service at The Hawthorns dedicated to his remarkable life, it was not just Cyrille's prowess on the pitch that was hailed. His humility and grace as a man was also celebrated.

Regis was described by his former boss Ron Atkinson as 'a phenomenal footballer and an even better bloke'. Former Liverpool and England star John Barnes called Cyrille 'an ambassador for humanity'.

And that praise for the former Albion, Wolves, Villa and Coventry forward's character was a recurring theme from all those who took the time to share memories of him. Among those at the service were Brighton boss Chris Hughton, Regis's nephew Jason Roberts, and ex-England stars Barnes, Carlton Palmer and Viv Anderson.

Humility

Albion fan and broadcaster Adrian Chiles, club legend 'Super' Bob Taylor and former Baggies and Wolves striker Don Goodman all attended. Soul star Beverley Knight performed during the service, while Chris Kamara. Les Ferdinand and Dwight Yorke also turned up.

Barnes heaped praise on Cyrille's personality, saying it even outshone his skills as a striker.

He said: "Cyrille was a fantastic footballer but the greatest quality a human being can have in my opinion is humility – and for someone who was such a great person, he had humility in abundance.

"As much as a he was a great footballer, a trail-blazer and a pioneer, his greatest quality was his humility. He was an ambassador for humanity."

Big Ron, who managed Regis at Albion and briefly at Villa, said: "From a football point of view, Cyrille would always be the number nine in my best ever team. And as a person he was a great bloke. He was a phenomenal footballer and an even better bloke.

"He didn't go out of his way to fight any crusades

CYRILLE REGIS 1958-2018

By David Cosgrove

"He didn't go out of his way to fight any crusades but he changed football by being what he was, a role model to everybody."

but he changed football by being what he was, a role model to everybody. He conducted himself the right way both on and off the field."

Brighton manager Chris Hughton said: "He leaves a lasting legacy because he played in a very difficult era for black players and had a big impact on the lives of those black players who followed him."

Now a Sky Sports presenter, Chris Kamara played in that same era as Cyrille and said the striker had blazed a trail for others to follow. Kamara said: "He was an icon to so many players. What a man, what a legend."

Broadcaster Adrian Chiles said Cyrille became his first hero after he saw him at The Hawthorns back in 1977. Now aged 50, Chiles said: "Cyrille was my first hero and I thought he was indestructible so it makes you realise we are all mortal. He transcended football. There have been so many footballers across the world but very few you can name that transcend the game.

"It's a privilege to have known him."

Bob Taylor, who followed in Cyrille's footsteps as an Albion striker and Hawthorns favourite, said: "From a personal point of view, Cyrille was my coach when I was here, he was a mentor for me – and he was a friend. Anybody you speak to will tell you that he was an ambassador on the football pitch and an ambassador off it."

Said John Silleet, Coventry City's FA Cup-winning manager: "I had the greatest job in football, managing a man called Cyrille Regis. An electric gifted character, he was a bonder of men."

Don Goodman, who – like Regis – represented both Albion and Wolves, added: "Quite simply he was a boyhood hero of mine. As I got to know Cyrille through my links with West Bromwich Albion, I came to know what a great man he was. Not just because he stood up in the face of racism but because he was an all-around good fellow.

"This man was a superstar of the day, but he was a man of the people."

In a moving eulogy, his nephew Jason Roberts, who also played for Albion, said: "Carrying his coffin with my cousins, uncle and family members, it was the first time it has been hard to be Cyrille Regis's nephew. People always wanted to spend time with him, to spend time around his influence. I was so fortunate to have that as a family member.

Unique

"The way he interacted with me or my family wasn't necessarily unique. Everybody was inspired by him, that's why I went on to play football.

"It's why my uncle David went on to have a football career, why I wanted to have a career."

"As an individual and a family we don't own the legacy of Cyrille Regis, everybody here does, everybody who's been touched by him, everybody who's been motivated to stay here in the cold and listen to his legacy. He was a special man and his legacy must live on and through our memories of him."

Dave Regis, Cyrille's younger brother, said: "Like all of us, Cyrille had his ups and downs in life. There was a time after Laurie Cunningham died that he struggled to come to terms with it. He found life difficult, this is when he turned to God seeking some comfort in his life.

"When C met Julia he was back to the brother we knew. He was beaming when he introduced her, it was obvious that she made him happy. His faith brought him peace, he never forced it on anyone.

"We will miss his wisdom, his voice and his life. We will miss you bro, all day long."

Said John Silleet, Coventry City's FA Cup-winning manager: "I had the greatest job in football, managing a man called Cyrille Regis. An electric gifted character, he was a bonder of men."

Impressive setting for blue hoops

ATHLETES from Dudley Kingswinford Running Club travelled to Wollaton Park in Nottingham for the Midlands Cross Country Championships.

Events began early with age group races, culminating in the Senior Ladies race and the last cab off the rank, the Senior Men's race.

Wollaton Park has been a regular venue for Midlands and National Championships. It is an impressive setting with the hall overlooking acres of deer park, criss-crossed by runners as they meandered around the grass following the taped-off course.

The DK ladies had been unable to field a team. However they were represented by a brave couple of blue hoops who lined up alongside a quality field. The course covering 8k over three laps including some vicious climbs zig-zagging in front of Wollaton Hall, a couple of tree trunk hurdles and a muddy section of about 200m that started off like The Somme and got gradually worse. Helen Tromans was first home in 87th place in 39.33 and Hannah McGuire finished in 43.55 to take 155th place of the 250 finishers.

The men set off just as the ladies were finishing covering four laps and 12k in distance. The hills were certainly no easier and the muddy section was almost bottomless as the afternoon progressed.

Darran Bishop brought the hoops home in 53.52 in 196th place, Dave Norman was 228th in 55.21, Mark Homer was 261st in 57.03, Simon Blizzard finished in 298th place in 58.42, Dave Hickman was 372nd in 1.02.44 and Andrew Weaver was 408th in 1.04.56. Graham Wildgoose was 434th in 1.08.17 and Richard Jones was 436th in 1.08.24 with the club finishing as the 32nd team on the day.

Heathens eight-race fixture list compiled

CRADLEY Heathens have revealed their 2018 fixture list – with just eight dates in the diary.

Heathens will race only in the National Trophy, hosting home fixtures at Monmore Green with a 7.30pm start.

Director Nigel Pearson said: "Whilst there's a lot of excitement about the team we have assembled, the reality of the situation strikes when you see the fixture list and only eight matches."

"The only way we could return to full league racing is by finally securing a site of our own, or some financial support can be given to ensure we don't lose money by staging meetings at Birmingham."

"That said, we have a super team with some exciting young talent and I'm really looking forward to seeing them in Heathens colours."

Fixtures:

May 7: Stoke (H)
May 12: Stoke (a)
May 21: Coventry (H)
May 27: Buxton (a)

James Ilsley with his golfing haul

A RISING star at Dudley Golf Club has added to his growing haul of silverware.

James Ilsley, aged 12, from Sedgley, continues to make great strides on the fairways and has been crowned the club's player of the year for the fourth year in a row.

James, who plays county golf for Worcestershire under-14s, is dominating the local junior scene, also picking up the best gross score and order of merit for the fourth year in a row. In addition to scooping the end of year accolade, James dominated in club events around the picturesque Turner's Hill course, winning eight of the 10 tournaments he entered.

James' mother Samantha Russell, who runs the club's junior section, said: "He's been getting better every year. I'm very proud."

"We're a growing side at Dudley but when James is on form, no one can touch him, he's just that good." After being introduced to golf at seven by his father, James' love for the game blossomed after having lessons with ex-Walker Cup player Darren Prosser. The youngster has recently joined The Belfry.

Samantha added: "It's down to the parents to put the effort and time in to take their kids anywhere they need to go to play. We pride ourselves on that and it's really benefited James."

LEADERS DK IN 7-TRY HEAVEN

Worcester 12 DK 43

WORCESTER always provide a stern test for DK, but the league leaders were up to the task and recorded a seven-try victory.

Both second rows scored tries, the first to Matt Perks. The other man from the row, Dan Marsh, scored DK's sixth try in the second half.

The forwards claimed their third try when Pete Griffiths found himself on the right wing with a walk in, this gave DK a lead going into half-time.

The Worcester pitch has a deceptive slope, and the hosts, playing down it in the first half scored two tries which would have disappointed the DK coaches. The first was a sustained period of pressure on the DK line following a line out, and they got over for a good try. The second was good use of the slope, following a well-judged kick ahead by the Worcester right wing there was a race to touch the ball down, but a wicked bounce saw a Worcester hand claim the final touch.

Outside

DK's backs did score a try in the first half, and it was a good one if not the best of the game. Jordan Brookes was able to put Connah Jones onto an outside arc which he sped onto and outside his man, and speeding for the line he was tackled just short but Stef Shillingford was on hand to finish the move.

The half-time whistle saw DK 17-12 up with the advantage of the slope to come.

The backs added three tries in the second half, though there was plenty of good forward play to make them possible, not forgetting the Dan Marsh effort. The bonus point try came soon after the break, through Stef Shillingford. Sam Vaughan added the extras.

Tommy Walker added the next try and into the final minutes Connah Jones dived over, Vaughan's try completing the scoring.

There's no stopping Connah Jones as he dives over to score one of DK's seven tries

Wood rack up division's highest total

COOMBS Wood scored the highest total of the WCB Indoor League – North Division, scoring 132-3 against Quatt in week four. They bowled out Quatt for 105 to win by 27 runs.

Coombs Wood lost a wicket in the first over, but Mike Langford (24) joined Carl Whyte (25no) and quickly raised the scoring rate. After Whyte's retirement, the batsmen continued to go after the bowling.

In reply, Quatt openers Rob Wheldon (26) and captain Alex Biddle (39) went chasing runs. But they were not backed up by the others, and with three wickets lost in the 10th over the target was out of reach.

In the other game, Stourbridge (110-3) beat Chaddesley

Corbett (102-5) by eight runs. After Stourbridge lost opener Stu Ludlam in the first over, Matt Bradley (30no) and captain Rashid (29no) started to repair the damage and the remaining batsmen all chipped in.

For Chaddesley Corbett the wheels came off in the middle overs when they lost three quick wickets, losing momentum.

Deduction puts Yeltz on bottom

HALESOWEN TOWN have been deducted four points for fielding an ineligible player – dumping them to the bottom of the Evo-Stik Northern Premier Division.

The Yeltz admitted fielding Kalern Thomas for three games in September and October while he was still registered with Solihull Moors. The club requested a personal hearing with the Evo-Stik League, and received £600 fine.

The four points won from involving Thomas played have now been deducted.

A club statement said the league met again on January 31 to discuss how the case breaches their rules and the club were further charged with fielding an ineligible player, resulting in the loss of the points and another £100 fine. Halesowen are considering an appeal.

On the field, Halesowen's woes continued, shipping five goals in the second half to slump to defeat at Whitby.

Captain Steve Snaith and Junior Mondal scored two each and James Fairley one. Yeltz had Marcus Poscha sent off.

Stourbridge reached the Birmingham Senior Cup semi-finals on Monday with a 3-2 victory at Coleshill Town, debutant Edison Antonio netting an 85th-minute winner after earlier goals from Leon Broadhurst and Connor Gater.

Glassboys picked up a share of the spoils against third-placed Shaw Lane in the Evo-Stik Premier on Saturday.

Luke Benbow's cross from the byline deceived goalkeeper Eddie Wilczynski to equalise after Alex Byrne had given Shaw Lane a third minute lead.

Rivals meet for place in Hunt Cup quarters

DUDELEY Town and Tipton Town meet next Wednesday for a place in the quarter-finals of the JW Hunt Cup.

Opponents for the winners will be either Alvechurch, Heath Hayes or Wolverhampton Casuals. The first two have yet to play their first round tie, which has been postponed three times.

Already in the quarter-finals are Walsall Wood and Paget Rangers who play for a semi-final place on Tuesday. Paget ended Tivdale's hopes with a 1-0 win in the second round.

A second semi-finalist will be known after Sporting Khalsa play Atherstone Town on February 27.
